Ike's Condition Still Critical; Doctors Grim

Unable To Say If Ex-President Can Recover

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today the condition of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower remains critical and evidence of his congestive heart failure persists "despite the fact that all appropriate therapeutic measures are being utilized."

A morning medical bulletin read to reporters by Col. John L. Bradley, executive officer of the Walter Reed Army Hospital, also said Eisenhower "slept comfortably through most of the night."

"He continues to enjoy brief visits with members of the immediate family," it added.

Reporters asked whether use of the word "critical" in Tuesday night's bulletin and again today meant that Eisenhower was "near death." Doctors replied "not necessarily."

But in reply to another question they said it was "uncertain" how long a patient in Eisenhower's general physical condition "and not responding to treatment" could be expected to endure severe congestive heart failure.

Asked to compare the 78-year-old general's condition at the present time with his condition last August—at the time of his seventh and most recent coronary heart attack and when doctors described it as "very critical," they replied: "His condition is considered to be critical."

They attributed Eisenhower's "remarkable ability to recover from so many major illnesses" to "his inherent stamina."

The physicians also said Eisenhower is always conscious "except when sleeping" and added he is lucid enough to converse easily with those around him.

In their bulletin late Tuesday, his doctors said Eisenhower "has shown no deterioration in the last 24 hours, his condition continues to be critical." This was the first time they had used critical to describe his condition.

Big Powers Set Meeting On Mideast

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — After weeks of private discussion, the Big 4 delegates at the United Nations are ready to gather around the table and consider how to get a durable peace in the Middle East.

Some sources say the four-man talks, motivated more by fear of failure than by hope of success, will get under way next week.

President Nixon appears to be counting most heavily on Soviet cooperation to bring about a settlement that would give Nixon a major achievement in the foreign field. It also would be a big boost for Secretary-General U Thant and the United Nations.

The United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France appear to agree that they should utilize Gunnar Jarring, Thant's special Middle East envoy.

Jarring, Sweden's ambassador to Moscow, has been trying since December, 1967, to get Israel and the Arabs to work out peace terms based on the U.N. Security Council's Nov. 22, 1967, resolution. The resolution called for Israeli withdrawal from Arab territory occupied during the 1967 war and Arab recognition of Israel as a sovereign state with defined frontiers.

Israel, however, has made clear it has no intention of giving up the Old City of Jerusalem, the Golan Heights in Syria and other strategic pieces of Arab real estate acquired in the war.

Israel has rejected the concept of a solution imposed by the Big 4. The Arabs have rejected territorial concessions to Israel.

9th Infantry Division Shelled By Viet Reds

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong mortars smashed into a major American base south of Saigon early today, blowing up hundreds of tons of ammunition, wrecking scores of buildings, and destroying three helicopters. Only a few Americans were killed, but more than 60 were wounded.

Shelling of the headquarters base of the 9th Infantry Division at Dong Tam, 40 miles south of Saigon, was one of 30 rocket and mortar attacks by the Viet Cong on the 32nd night of their spring offensive.

North Vietnamese troops followed up one of the attacks with an infantry charge that carried them to the barbed wire perimeter of another American base 45 miles northwest of Saigon. Before they were driven off eight American air cavalrymen were killed, 17 were wounded and only two enemy bodies were found on the barbed wire. Col. Ira Hunt of McLean, Va., chief of staff of the 9th Division estimated that as much as 500 tons of ammunition, mostly small arms, went up in the attack on the Dong Tam base. "We were expecting it because we had information from a prisoner," Hunt told AP photographer Max Nash.

Hunt said about 13 rounds of 120mm mortars, the biggest in the enemy arsenal, slammed into the base an hour and a half before midnight but caused little damage. "We thought that was it," said Hunt. "Many men had left their bunkers after the first attack."

Then came another barrage about midnight. One of the first shells hit an ammunition storage pad, triggering a series of explosions in at least half a dozen more pads. After that the Americans couldn't distinguish the incoming rounds from their own exploding ammunition. Two crews got their helicopters off the ground but were knocked down by the exploding shells. A third helicopter was destroyed on the ground.

The 9th Division base has been shelled more than a dozen times during the enemy's spring offensive. Scores of helicopters and hundreds of tons of ammunition and fuel have been lost, but the U.S. Command has never disclosed the exact amounts.

"They don't like us," said Col. Hunt. "We've killed 2,800 enemy troops so far this month." South Vietnamese headquarters said five mortar rounds killed three children and wounded four soldiers in Quang Tri City, 19 miles below the demilitarized zone.

More ground action also was reported along the northern frontier.

Judge Stays Jemison Death As Lawyer Admits Bungling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The attorney for convicted murderer Richard Howard Jemison, who received a stay of execution Tuesday, admits he failed to provide his client with competent legal counsel.

"I foolishly took the word of an assistant prosecuting attorney and Jemison followed my advice completely," attorney Jerry Weiner told two Franklin County Common Pleas Court judges Tuesday.

"It was my belief that he was insane . . . and I waived all his rights without meeting with him," Weiner said in arguing for Jemison's petition for post-conviction remedies.

Judges Leonard J. Stern and Myron B. Gessaman granted an indefinite stay of execution, scheduled Friday, to give them time to study the trial transcript.

The action delayed what would have been the first execution in the nation in 21 months and the first in Ohio in more than six years.

Stern and Gessaman were members of the three-judge panel which tried and convicted Jemison. The third judge, Robert E. Leach, now sits on the 10th District Court of Appeals.

Jemison, 60, was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1965 slayings of his wife, Virginia, and a Columbus pharmacist, John Lyman. Lyman was shot to death while at work in a downtown Columbus drug store and Mrs. Jemison, a former employee of the store, later was found dead in the Jemison home.

Jemison's post-conviction petition alleges that he was denied due process of law, trial by jury, competent counsel and protection from self-incrimination as guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution.

Weiner said in oral arguments before the judges that the constitutional violations stemmed from his interpretation that "a deal" had been made with an assistant prosecuting attorney allowing Jemison to escape the death penalty. Prosecutor C. Howard Johnson denied that any deal had been made with his office for a lesser sentence.

"I had decided to press for as severe a penalty as possible for Jemison in the murder of two defenseless persons that he mowed down," Johnson told the court.

Weiner also argued that provisions of law allowing a jury or panel of judges to recommend mercy are unconstitutional, since they give a jury or judges unlimited determination in the life or death of an individual.

Ohio House Group Hears Bid For Voter Registration

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Assistant Secretary of State George C. Farris says its "embarrassing" that 37 Ohio counties do not have voter registration.

Farris, testifying in favor of a bill to require statewide voter registration, told the House State Government Committee Tuesday night that there have been cases of Ohioans voting in both Kentucky and the Buckeye State, too.

He said mandatory voter registration would put an end to this in the border counties.

"There was a time when everybody in the county knew everybody else and the election officials knew who was qualified to vote and who wasn't, but this is no longer the case," he said.

Farris said the cost to register voters is about one dollar for each person.

Jennings B. Cole, treasurer of the Ohio Association of Election Officials, said registration will give each county an accurate count of the electors in all precincts so they can order the correct number of ballots needed.

"This will amount to a savings," he said.

Cole agreed with Farris' contention that in some instances Ohioans have voted twice in one election.

"Registration will benefit those border counties where electors can cross over state or county lines," he said.

"States surrounding Ohio have statewide registration and have better control over persons of voting age," he said.

The chairman of the Senate Elections, Commerce and Labor Committee said in a brief interview he did not feel statewide voter registration "is as important as everybody thinks it is."

Robin T. Turner, R-14 Marion said "a vast quantity of voters are presently registered" and the smaller counties "have shifted to voter registration as the money to do so has become available."

Another Jet Is Hijacked

Delta Airliner Flown To Cuba

MIAMI (AP)—A hijacker believed to be a Venezuelan forced a Delta Air Lines jet carrying 114 persons, including 26 young Marine Corps recruits, to fly to Cuba early today.

Minus the hijacker, the plane returned to the United States, landing at Miami at 8:16 a.m. EST, to refuel before continuing. Its original destinations were San Diego, Calif., and Los Angeles.

Delta officials reported that the hijacker, who seemed to be a Venezuelan, sat in the first row of the tourist section. They said he forced a stewardess into the cockpit with a snub nosed revolver.

The plane was seized 10 minutes after takeoff from Dallas in the 21st hijacking of a commercial airliner to Cuba this year.

The DC8 was preparing to complete Delta's Flight 821 from Newark, N.J., to San Diego and Los Angeles when pilot William Wood radioed for permission to change course.

"Are you returning to the field?" asked the control center at Fort Worth, Tex.

"No," Capt. Wood said. "Flying to Havana."

Most of those aboard the jet, including the Marine recruits, were en route to San Diego. Other military personnel also were aboard.

In Little Rock, Ark., Mrs. Jack May said her son, Seaman Apprentice Jimmy May, 18, was one of the passengers.

"We didn't have any idea our son would become a world traveler so soon," she said. "We were talking about how he probably would be getting into San Diego when we heard it on radio."

The hijacking was the 14th this year of a U.S. airliner, pushing the 1969 total to an all-time high. In all of 1968 there were 13 U.S. planes and seven from other countries diverted to Cuba.

Sky piracy has taken 1,587 persons on the unscheduled run to Fidel Castro's island this year—255 of them in March.

Winter Back Over Part Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow, wind and rain chilled the northeastern quarter of the nation today and temperatures slid to wintry levels across northern sections of the Plains and Midwest.

The early spring storm created hazardous driving in portions of the Great Lakes region as rains which began on Monday turned to snow. Two inches coaxed parts of Michigan, Wisconsin and Northern Illinois.

The rain began changing to snow in Southern New England during the night.

Raw winds accompanying the storm heightened its unpleasantness. Advisory gale warnings flew on all the Great Lakes and gale warnings also were posted along the Maine coast.

Expressways are only one form. I'm convinced that you just don't stop a highway program because, perhaps, a few additional homes will have to be taken.

But, by the same token, you just can't depend on a highway program to do the job completely, because it can't do the job. This has been proven in New York City . . . where over half a century ago—1917, I guess—the pushcart era—the average speed was 11 miles an hour. Today it's 17 miles an hour in New York. So we haven't made much progress in over half a century. So something needs to be done. And it needs to be done in a bold and imaginative way . . .

See Viet Pullout Taking 2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army staff officers estimate it may take as long as two years for a complete withdrawal of all U.S. soldiers and equipment from Vietnam when the order finally comes to pull out of the war zone.

Although no decision has been reached on a timetable the Army is working on plans now to avoid the waste and confusion that accompanied the first pullback of U.S. troops from battle zones in past wars.

The staff officers made the time estimate after Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor told the Senate Armed Services Committee Tuesday that "a deliberate rather than a hasty timetable" is the best way to avoid the difficulties that followed World War II and Korea.

"We are therefore planning now, in a much more detailed and orderly manner than at any time previously for actions to be taken when hostilities decrease to a level at which the South Vietnamese no longer require the assistance of our own combat troops," Resor said.

The planning involves not only the removal of the 360,000 Army troops and billions of dollars worth of arms and equipment, but also their repositioning in the United States and elsewhere "to meet worldwide commitments," as Resor phrased it.

The Army staff also must take into account the overall reduction of the Army to manpower levels which were in effect before President Johnson ordered large numbers of U.S. ground troops into the war nearly four years ago.

The Army now stands at about 1.5 million men, some 500,000 more than when the Vietnam war buildup started in the summer of 1965.

The other services also have pullback problems, but the Army's is by far the greatest because of its size and the amount of gear it has in Southeast Asia.

Veterans of World War II and Korea still recall how huge amounts of arms and equipment were dumped, destroyed or left behind when American forces withdrew from overseas battle areas.

Mead anticipates healthy internal growth in 1969, McSwiney said, forecasting a sales volume "on the plus side of $950 million." Sales in 1968 rose by 11 per cent to $898 million, largely "by reason of the merger with Woodward Corp., but internal growth and several smaller acquisitions added significantly to the total," he said.

A. I think they recognize the highway user himself is going to become so frustrated that he is going to be willing to experiment with anything rather than spend 13 per cent of his day and, maybe within a year or two, 20 per cent of his daily working hours behind another automobile and taking in all the fumes that come from it.

Spending Cuts Are Promised By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, declaring that "inflation is a form of economic aggression," proposed to Congress today that the problem be met by extending the income tax surcharge for another 12 months and by making significant cuts in federal spending.

In a special message, Nixon reported that at least half of the budget surpluses envisioned in January by former President Lyndon B. Johnson already have evaporated—in some cases because of inflation and in others because of overly optimistic estimates.

Faced with that situation, Nixon said he will propose budget revisions for the fiscal year starting July 1 that will reduce spending "significantly below the amount recommended in January." He gave no details.

The chief executive, in calling for a continuation of the 10 per cent federal income tax surtax beyond its scheduled June 30 expiration, declared:

"As I have said before, the surcharge is a temporary tax that must be ended as soon as our commitments in Southeast Asia and economic conditions permit."

In the Senate, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the majority leader, said earlier that Congress should insist on a second big spending cut as its price for extending the surcharge.

And the Senate's Democratic spokesman said Congress should decide where the cuts are made — unlike last year when it left most of the trimming to former President Johnson.

It was announced Tuesday that President Nixon would ask Congress today for a year's extension of the surtax. His request is expected to win approval, but, as with most taxes, neither quickly nor cheerfully.

Nixon's announcement came more than three months before the current surtax expires June 30 and on the heels of a report that the cost of living in the nation has gone up sharply.

Mansfield said in an interview that, if Congress goes along with the President, it should

Canadian Chief Unsure On ABM Net

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau flew back to Canada early today, unsure about the implications of the American antimissile system but certain to face more questioning from its critics and other members of his Cabinet.

Trudeau and President Nixon Tuesday wound up two days of talks devoted primarily to the proposed Safeguard ABM system, but the Prime Minister said his questions about the moral and political implications of the system remained unanswered.

"We have more technical information about ABM but answers to moral and political questions are no more close today than a week ago," he said in a news conference at the Canadian Embassy.

"All I can do now is go back to my Cabinet colleagues and report the new information received."

He said Canada would make a full assessment of possible implications of Nixon's green light to deploy the Safeguard system to protect Minuteman intercontinental missiles from attack.

Canadian critics are concerned that Safeguard's Nuclear-Armed missiles, if they had to be used, might pose a threat of violating Canada's airspace and spreading radioactive fallout over the country. The first two Safeguard sites will be in Montana and North Dakota.

On the other hand, some supporters of the plan want Canada to join in the system.

Volpe Sees Curbs On Autos In Big Cities Coming Soon

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe says it may be necessary to curb the use of automobiles in the nation's cities unless a mass transit breakthrough is achieved within two years.

"Some type of mass transportation has got . . . to get into operation pretty rapidly or we do face the real possibility that either we have to shut off to rubber tires certain limited areas within a city or charge a fee to come in there," Volpe said in an interview with The Associated Press.

The secretary acknowledged the need for new highways but said "we wouldn't be in the mess we're in today" if mass transit systems had been built as fast as expressways.

Volpe predicted that the motorist would begin looking for alternatives to being mired in traffic jams.

"If you get down to a point where automobiles have to travel five miles an hour, well, you know how long people are going to use them," he said. "They are going to walk to work instead of ride. Of course, it wouldn't hurt them if they did, either, I might add."

"Bold new ideas" are needed, Volpe said. But he added it would probably be five years before new developments could be in service.

"We can't wait that long for some of these things," he said. Here are excerpts from the interview:

Q. What veto power, if any, should central city residents have over freeway construction in their neighborhoods?

A. Any responsible group should certainly have an opportunity to voice its opinions strongly and in the clearest terms. I think it is up to public agencies . . . to listen to these inputs on the part of neighborhood groups or citywide groups, action-oriented groups, . . . or whatever they might be.

But in the final analysis it is the elected or appointed officials who have to make some final judgments . . .

Expressways are only one form. I'm convinced that you just don't stop a highway program because, perhaps, a few additional homes will have to be taken.

But, by the same token, you just can't depend on a highway program to do the job completely, because it can't do the job. This has been proven in New York City . . . where over half a century ago—1917, I guess—the pushcart era—the average speed was 11 miles an hour. Today it's 17 miles an hour in New York. So we haven't made much progress in over half a century. So something needs to be done. And it needs to be done in a bold and imaginative way . . .

Q. Some urban experts propose a series of user charges to discourage use of the automobile in central cities during business hours. Do you believe it necessary to ration the use of the automobile in some way?

A. Well, either we make a great deal more progress in mass transportation than we've made in the last five years, or within the next year or two, you're going to have to come to some type of restriction on certain areas within . . . the core city on the utilization of the automobile.

It could be the utilization of the trucks. I mean the delivery of goods during certain hours. It could be the separation of pedestrian and vehicle traffic . . . We are going to have to come to some type of solution along those lines . . .

I would prefer to see the alternative of taking some people off the automobile tires if you provide good, swift, safe, economical mass transportation . . .

Q. How do you think the highway lobby would greet such a step?

A. I think they recognize the highway user himself is going to become so frustrated that he is going to be willing to experiment with anything rather than spend 13 per cent of his day and, maybe within a year or two, 20 per cent of his daily working hours behind another automobile and taking in all the fumes that come from it.

Most of those aboard the jet, including the Marine recruits, were en route to San Diego. Other military personnel also were aboard.

In Little Rock, Ark., Mrs. Jack May said her son, Seaman Apprentice Jimmy May, 18, was one of the passengers.

"We didn't have any idea our son would become a world traveler so soon," she said. "We were talking about how he probably would be getting into San Diego when we heard it on radio."

The hijacking was the 14th this year of a U.S. airliner, including the 1969 total to an all-time high. In all of 1968 there were 13 U.S. planes and seven from other countries diverted to Cuba.

Sky piracy has taken 1,587 persons on the unscheduled route to Fidel Castro's island this year—255 of them in March.

Winter Back Over Part Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow, wind and rain chilled the northeastern quarter of the nation today and temperatures slid to wintry levels across northern sections of the Plains and Midwest.

The early spring storm created hazardous driving in portions of the Great Lakes region as rains which began on Monday turned to snow. Two inches coated parts of Michigan, Wisconsin and Northern Illinois.

The rain began changing to snow in Southern New England during the night.

Raw winds accompanying the storm heightened its unpleasantness. Advisory gale warnings flew on all the Great Lakes and gale warnings also were posted along the Maine coast.

WOODEN WATER MAIN REPLACED — Mayor Clifford Kellogg holds a piece of wooden water main workmen are replacing in Olivet, Mich. The section is part of about a mile of wooden main which has served the city since the early 1900s when Olivet's first water system was installed.

See Viet Pullout Taking 2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army staff officers estimate it may take as long as two years for a complete withdrawal of all U.S. soldiers and equipment from Vietnam when the order finally comes to pull out of the war zone.

Although no decision has been reached on a timetable the Army is working on plans now to avoid the waste and confusion that accompanied the first pullback of U.S. troops from battle zones in past wars.

The staff officers made the time estimate after Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor told the Senate Armed Services Committee Tuesday that "a deliberate rather than a hasty timetable" is the best way to avoid the difficulties that followed World War II and Korea.

"We are therefore planning now, in a much more detailed and orderly manner than at any time previously for actions to be taken when hostilities decrease to a level at which the South Vietnamese no longer require the assistance of our own combat troops," Resor said.

The planning involves not only the removal of the 360,000 Army troops and billions of dollars worth of arms and equipment, but also their repositioning in the United States and elsewhere "to meet worldwide commitments," as Resor phrased it.

The Army staff also must take into account the overall reduction of the Army to manpower levels which were in effect before President Johnson ordered large numbers of U.S. ground troops into the war nearly four years ago.

The Army now stands at about 1.5 million men, some 500,000 more than when the Vietnam war buildup started in the summer of 1962.

The other services also have pullback problems, but the Army's is by far the greatest because of its size and the amount of gear it has in Southeast Asia.

Veterans of World War II and Korea still recall how huge amounts of arms and equipment were dumped, destroyed or left behind when American forces withdrew from overseas battle areas.

Mead President Makes Report
DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—James W. McSwiney, president of the Mead Corp., told shareholders at their annual meeting here Tuesday, that on balance, the corporate outlook for 1969 is good.

Mead anticipates healthy internal growth in 1969, McSwiney said, forecasting a sales volume "on the plus side of $950 million." Sales in 1968 rose by 11 per cent to $838 million, largely "by reason of the merger with Woodward Corp., but internal growth and several smaller acquisitions added significantly to the total," he said.

Spending Cuts Are Promised By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, declaring that "inflation is a form of economic aggression," proposed to Congress today that the problem be met by extending the income tax surcharge for another 12 months and by making significant cuts in federal spending.

In a special message, Nixon reported that at least half of the budget surpluses envisioned in January by former President Lyndon B. Johnson already have evaporated—in some cases because of inflation and in others because of overly optimistic estimates.

Faced with that situation, Nixon said he will propose budget revisions for the fiscal year starting July 1 that will reduce spending "significantly below the amount recommended in January." He gave no details.

The chief executive, in calling for a continuation of the 10 per cent federal income tax surtax beyond its scheduled June 30 expiration, declared:

"As I have said before, the surcharge is a temporary tax that must be ended as soon as our commitments in Southeast Asia and economic conditions permit."

In the Senate, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the majority leader, said earlier that Congress should insist on a second big spending cut as its price for extending the surcharge.

And the Senate's Democratic spokesman said Congress should decide where the cuts are made — unlike last year when it left most of the trimming to former President Johnson.

It was announced Tuesday that President Nixon would ask Congress today for a year's extension of the surtax. His request is expected to win approval, but, as with most taxes, neither quickly nor cheerfully.

Nixon's announcement came more than three months before the current surtax expires June 30 and on the heels of a report that the cost of living in the nation has gone up sharply.

Mansfield said in an interview that, if Congress goes along with the President, it should

Canadian Chief Unsure On ABM Net

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau flew back to Canada early today, unsure about the implications of the American antimissile system but certain to face more questioning from its critics and other members of his Cabinet.

Trudeau and President Nixon Tuesday wound up two days of talks devoted primarily to the proposed Safeguard ABM system, but the Prime Minister said his questions about the moral and political implications of the system remained unanswered.

"We have more technical information about ABM but answers to moral and political questions are no more close today than a week ago," he said in a news conference at the Canadian Embassy.

"All I can do now is go back to my Cabinet colleagues and report the new information received."

He said Canada would make a full assessment of possible implications of Nixon's green light to deploy the Safeguard system to protect Minuteman intercontinental missiles from attack.

Canadian critics are concerned that Safeguard's Nuclear-Armed missiles, if they had to be used, might pose a threat of violating Canada's airspace and spreading radioactive fallout over the country. The first two Safeguard sites will be in Montana and North Dakota.

On the other hand, some supporters of the plan want Canada to join in the system.

Volpe Sees Curbs On Autos In Big Cities Coming Soon

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe says it may be necessary to curb the use of automobiles in the nation's cities unless a mass transit breakthrough is achieved within two years.

"Some type of mass transportation has got . . . to get into operation pretty rapidly or we do face the real possibility that either we have to shut off to rubber tires certain limited areas within a city or charge a fee to come in there," Volpe said in an interview with The Associated Press.

The secretary acknowledged the need for new highways but said "we wouldn't be in the mess we're in today" if mass transit systems had been built as fast as expressways.

Volpe predicted that the motorist would begin looking for alternatives to being mired in traffic jams.

"If you get down to a point where automobiles have to travel five miles an hour, well, you know how long people are going to use them," he said. "They are going to walk to work instead of ride. Of course, it wouldn't hurt them if they did, either, I might add."

"Bold new ideas" are needed, Volpe said. But he added it would probably be five years before new developments could be in service.

"We can't wait that long for some of these things," he said. Here are excerpts from the interview:

Q. What veto power, if any, should central city residents have over freeway construction in their neighborhoods?

A. Any responsible group should certainly have an opportunity to voice its opinions strongly and in the clearest terms, I think it is up to public agencies . . . to listen to these inputs on the part of neighborhood groups or citywide groups, action-oriented groups, . . . or whatever they might be.

But in the final analysis it is the elected or appointed officials who have to make some final judgments . . .

Expressways are only one form. I'm convinced that you just don't stop a highway program because, perhaps, a few additional homes will have to be taken.

But, by the same token, you just can't depend on a highway program to do the job completely, because it can't do the job.

This has been proven in New York City . . . where over half a century ago—1917, I guess—the pushcart era—the average speed was 11 miles an hour. Today it's 17 miles an hour in New York. So we haven't made much progress in over half a century. So something needs to be done. And it needs to be done in a bold and imaginative way . . .

Q. Some urban experts propose a series of user charges to discourage use of the automobile in central cities during business hours. Do you believe it necessary to ration the use of the automobile in some way?

A. Well, either we make a great deal more progress in mass transportation than we've made in the last five years, or within the next year or two, you're going to have to come to some type of restriction on certain areas within . . . the core city on the utilization of the automobile.

It could be the utilization of the trucks. I mean the delivery of goods during certain hours. It could be the separation of pedestrian and vehicle traffic . . . We are going to have to come to some type of solution along those lines . . .

I would prefer to see the alternative of taking some people off the automobile tires if you provide good, swift, safe, economical mass transportation . . .

Q. How do you think the highway lobby would greet such a step?

A. I think they recognize the highway user himself is going to become so frustrated that he is going to be willing to experiment with anything rather than spend 13 per cent of his day and, maybe within a year or two, 20 per cent of his daily working hours behind another automobile and taking in all the fumes that come from it.

Construction Starts On Orient Park

Construction of a village park for Orient has begun on a 5.5 acre tract of land at Stahl Road and Mill Street.

The park will include a baseball diamond, basketball court, a shelter house and facilities for various other outdoor games. There are approximately 75 children in Orient.

Cost of the park is estimated at $33,000 by Richard Rush, a member of the Orient Village Council and chairman of the recreation committee.

The park property is owned by the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, Orient State Institute. The land was leased for 15 years for one dollar.

Vernon Belt of the Belt Corporation in Orient has agreed to loan playground equipment to the park.

Persons interested in the park have been asked to donate $5. No tax money is being used according to Rush.

Billion-Dollar Army Fiasco On New Tank Is Disclosed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a House subcommittee has accused the Army of a "billion-dollar boo boo" in developing a new tank because: —Although the tank is for reconnaissance, it can be heard three miles away.

—It has a "rooster tail exhaust" system that makes it an easy target.

—Its caseless ammunition is ultraflammable, leaves burning residue in the breech which can prematurely ignite a round, and is adversely affected by moisture, oil, and rough handling.

—Due to a problem with fuel-tank leaks, frequent checks for spilled fuel should be made to prevent fires.

—When operating in jungle or heavy underbrush, vegetation will clog air intake grilles and the radiator, requiring frequent cleaning to avoid overheating.

—The (Shillelagh) missile must not be fired when the launch vehicle is in motion.

—Under extremely dusty conditions, the present air cleaner requires cleaning or replacement every 1 1/2 hours.

These were the findings of a previously classified document that Rep. Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y., ordered the Army to release Tuesday after six days of secret testimony on the Sheridan tank.

Stratton, chairman of the subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee, said "the people have a right to know this incredible story."

Stratton charged that the Army had rushed the weapons system into combat and mass production in order to eliminate its possible drawback or elimination by the Bureau of the Budget and the secretary of defense.

He succeeded during the hearings in winning admission from one Army officer, Lt. Col. Stan Sheridan, that the tank was recommended for production for budgetary reasons although tests had indicated there were many problems.

Later, Sheridan's superiors heatedly denied this, despite an internal memorandum in the subcommittee's possession in which this point was stressed by Sheridan.

Lt. Gen. Austin W. Betts, chief of research and development for the Army, in often heated exchanges with Stratton, said it was relatively routine procedure to recommend production before all bugs in a system had been worked out.

Betts said the tank was recommended because there was an urgent need for it in Vietnam, and that he was sure the problems could be surmounted. He said this was his only consideration.

Stratton, who termed the tank "a billion dollar boo boo," sharply told Betts:

"We don't want to get a snow job here." He termed the general's comments "self-serving" and not in accord with results of the investigation.

Spending Cuts

"Impose a $10 billion cut in requested appropriations and a reduction of $5 billion in actual expenditures as a price to be paid for continuing this heavy taxation."

Laying down a Democratic position, he said cuts should be made in defense funds, and in spending for overseas bases, deployment of the Safeguard antimissile system, the space program and for research and development.

"Rather than tossing this issue to the President, I think Congress should share the responsibility by directing him where to make the reductions," Mansfield said.

Backers of the extension contend the surtax will produce an additional $10 billion in revenue needed to head off an inflation-feeding budget deficit of unacceptable proportions in the next fiscal year, which begins July 1. Last year, Congress put a $180 billion limit on spending. Both Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy and budget Director Robert P. Mayo have said that next year they expect to hold spending below the $195.3 billion fixed in Johnson's last budget.

Both oppose a spending ceiling such as Mansfield proposed. One of the prime reasons for enacting the surtax in the first place was to curb a growing inflation, as well as to help pay the costs of the Vietnam war.

The effect on inflation apparently hasn't been too strong so far, as evidenced by a Bureau of Labor Statistics report Tuesday that living costs in February jumped four-tenths of one per cent—the biggest increase in four months. The bureau said this more than wiped out increases in earnings.

Chairman William McCleskey Martin of the Federal Reserve Board told Congress, however, that the spending ceiling and the surtax were having an effect in curbing inflation.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford told reporters Tuesday the administration believes "we may have reached the high-water mark of inflation."

He predicted that living costs may not rise more than 3 per cent this year, compared to 5 per cent last year.

Auto Crashes Take 7 Lives In 24 Hours

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hardin and Licking County men were among the first traffic deaths reported in Ohio Wednesday while a number of other Ohioans died in accidents in the preceding 24-hour period.

The dead: Dennis Allan Day, 27, Forest, Hardin County.

Robert Rader Jr., 22, Rt. 2, Pataskala, Licking County.

Raymond J. Ziegman, 72, Lorain.

Robert D. Brown, 45, Sciotoville, Scioto County.

Delores Sanders, 20, Coldwater, Mercer County.

Herman M. Ayers, 60, Paris, Stark County.

Jacqueline Maxwell, 18, Boston Heights, Summit County.

Day was killed early Wednesday when two automobiles collided on 310 and hit a utility pole in Licking County.

Ziegman was killed Tuesday night when struck by an automobile in Lorain.

Brown was killed late Tuesday when his car left U.S. 52 near Point Pleasant and struck a tree. Delores Sanders was killed in a two-car collision Monday at an intersection in Celina, Mercer County.

Ayers was killed when he was hurled through the windshield of his car in a collision with an oil tank truck Tuesday night on U.S. 30 just east of Canton.

Miss Maxwell died Monday night in Akron's St. Thomas Hospital of injuries received in a car-truck crash in which her brother and sister died last Thursday.

Pilots Urge Stiff Stand On Hijackers

AMSTERDAM (AP) — The International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations warned today that it may call a world-wide strike for 12 or 24 hours if airline hijacking is not suitably punished.

A resolution unanimously adopted by the federation's annual conference said it may also take these actions against nations that don't punish hijackers:

1. A ban on all air traffic into the country.
2. Coordinated action to restrict movement of the country's aircraft and to restrict movement of cargo to and from the country, either by air or surface.

The federation represents 70 per cent of the world's 6,500 airline pilots. The Soviet Union was represented by observers, but Cuba, the chief target of the resolution, was not represented.

Earlier, the conference adopted a resolution saying that the federations executive committee is authorized to impose a ban of flights into the offending state when it does not allow the crew of a hijacked plane to leave within 48 hours.

Israeli Planes Hammer Arabs Inside Jordan

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes attacked an Arab guerrilla base near the Jordanian town of Salt today, the army announced.

"A few planes went into action at 1430 (2:30 p.m.)," a spokesman said, and all returned unscathed.

Salt is 10 miles east of the Jordan River cease-fire line and about 15 miles west of Amman, the Jordanian capital.

Guerrilla bases around Salt came under heavy Israeli attack last summer, Israel charging the barren, stony area was packed with saboteurs staging raids against the Jewish state. Heavier military action has centered lately on the Suez Canal.

Billion-Dollar Army Fiasco On New Tank Is Disclosed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a House subcommittee has accused the Army of a "billion-dollar boob" in developing a new tank because: —Although the tank is for reconnaissance, it can be heard three miles away. —It has a "rooster tail exhaust" system that makes it an easy target. —Its caseless ammunition is ultraflammable, leaves burning residue in the breech which can prematurely ignite a round, and is adversely affected by moisture, oil, and rough handling. —"Due to a problem with fuel-tank leaks, frequent checks for spilled fuel should be made to prevent fires."

When operating in jungle or heavy underbrush, vegetation will clog air intake grilles and the radiator, requiring frequent cleaning to avoid overheating. —The (Shillelagh) missile must not be fired when the launch vehicle is in motion."

Under extremely dusty conditions, the present air cleaner requires cleaning or replacement every 1 1/2 hours."

These were the findings of a previously classified document that Rep. Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y., ordered the Army to release Tuesday after six days of secret testimony on the Sheridan tank.

Stratton, chairman of the subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee, said "the people have a right to know this incredible story."

Stratton charged that the Army had rushed the weapons system into combat and mass production in order to eliminate its possible drawback or elimination by the Bureau of the Budget and the secretary of defense.

He succeeded during the hearings in winning admission from one Army officer, Lt. Col. Stan Sheridan, that the tank was recommended for production for budgetary reasons although tests had indicated there were many problems.

Later, Sheridan's superiors heatedly denied this, despite an internal memorandum in the subcommittee's possession in which this point was stressed by Sheridan.

Lt. Gen. Austin W. Betts, chief of research and development for the Army, in often heated exchanges with Stratton, said it was relatively routine procedure to recommend production before all bugs in a system had been worked out.

Betts said the tank was recommended because there was an urgent need for it in Vietnam, and that he was sure the problems could be surmounted. He said this was his only consideration.

Stratton, who termed the tank "a billion dollar boob too," sharply told Betts: "We don't want to get a snow job here." He termed the general's comments "self-serving" and not in accord with results of the investigation.

Super Jet May Not Survive Budget-Conscious Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The supersonic transport, which has generated almost as much noise within government as critics say it would in flight, faces a doubtful future at the hands of a budget-conscious White House.

A final decision on the controversial program is expected soon after a report goes to President Nixon this week from Secretary of Transportation John Volpe.

Volpe has until recently been an outspoken supporter of developing an American SST and for this reason the report is expected to be favorable if not an outright recommendation for continued work.

Spadework for the report, however, was done by a review board of Cabinet undersecretaries and high-level agency heads known to have included bitter critics of the SST.

Although the report is likely to carry considerable weight, it goes to the White House at a time when President Nixon is combing the budget for soft spots and may be reluctant to restore funds that former President Johnson left out of his budget.

Volpe took note of this in a recent interview with the Associated Press when he said "all of us recognize the inflationary picture."

Program leaders have estimated more than $200 million will be needed to continue SST development in the next fiscal year, if the 1,800-mile-an-hour airliner is to become available for commercial use by 1976 or 1977.

The Boeing Co., Seattle, has a contract to build two prototype or flying test models, using engines provided by General Electric Co., Cincinnati. The Federal Aviation Administration has estimated that the government and contractors will have spent $1.5 billion on the program by the time the prototype phase has been completed.

SST backers say the United States must develop its own model to remain competitive with the French-British Concorde and the Russian TU144. Both the foreign models have flown, but are not expected to be in commercial use until the 1970s.

Critics of the program want development of an SST held up until some way can be found to curb the noise it makes on landings and takeoffs and when it crashes through the sound barrier.

Vote Change Gets Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — A secret vote among Democrats on the House Judiciary Committee has indicated overwhelming amendment providing direct election of the President.

The pledge of support was the second big boost in recent days to the proposal which appears to be gaining strength in Congress.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said last week he favors direct elections.

Ford's stand, disclosed at a private meeting with a few newsmen, caught his Republican colleagues by surprise. He had earlier endorsed the view of President Nixon that a direct election amendment could not win ratification by the necessary 38 states.

Ford now feels a direct elections amendment would have strong support throughout the country and is probably the only proposal for changing the present system that would demand the two-thirds majority needed in the House and Senate.

By the same token, he feels the plan for dividing the electoral vote among the candidates as proposed by Nixon has little chance in Congress.

Ford's support could be crucial. Since heaviest opposition to the plan comes from southern Democrats, GOP votes will be needed to pass it.

Auto Crashes Take 7 Lives In 24 Hours

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hardin and Licking County men were among the first traffic deaths reported in Ohio Wednesday while a number of other Ohioans died in accidents in the preceding 24-hour period.

The dead:

Dennis Allan Day, 27, Forest, Hardin County.

Robert Rader Jr., 22, Rt. 2 Pataskala, Licking County.

Raymond J. Ziegman, 72, Lorain.

Robert D. Brown, 45, Sciotoville, Scioto County.

Delores Sanders, 20, Coldwater, Mercer County.

Herman M. Ayers, 60, Paris, Stark County.

Jacqueline Maxwell, 18, Boston Heights, Summit County.

Day was killed early Wednesday when two automobiles collided on 310 and hit a utility pole in Licking County.

Ziegman was killed Tuesday night when struck by an automobile in Lorain.

Brown was killed late Tuesday when his car left U.S. 52 near Point Pleasant and struck a tree. Delores Sanders was killed in a two-car collision Monday at an intersection in Celina, Mercer County.

Ayers was killed when he was hurled through the windshield of his car in a collision with an oil tank truck Tuesday night on U.S. 30 just east of Canton.

Miss Maxwell died Monday night in Akron's St. Thomas Hospital of injuries received in a car-truck crash in which her brother and sister died last Thursday.

THE first mushroom find of the season was reported by Joe Speakman of Whisler ... Speakman found three in Tar Hollow State Forest during the weekend ... The largest was only about one-fourth of an inch in length.

Spending Cuts

"impose a $10 billion cut in requested appropriations and a reduction of $5 billion in actual expenditures as a price to be paid for continuing this heavy taxation."

Laying down a Democratic position, he said cuts should be made in defense funds, and in spending for overseas bases, deployment of the Safeguard antimissile system, the space program and for research and development.

"Rather than tossing this issue to the President, I think Congress should share the responsibility by directing him where to make the reductions," Mansfield said.

Backers of the extension contend the surtax will produce an additional $10 billion in revenue needed to head off an inflation-feeding budget deficit of unacceptable proportions in the next fiscal year, which begins July 1.

Last year, Congress put a $180 billion limit on spending. Both Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy and budget Director Robert P. Mayo have said that next year they expect to hold spending below the $195.3 billion fixed in Johnson's last budget.

Both oppose a spending ceiling such as Mansfield proposed. One of the prime reasons for enacting the surtax in the first place was to curb a growing inflation, as well as to help pay the costs of the Vietnam war.

The effect on inflation apparently hasn't been too strong so far, as evidenced by a Bureau of Labor Statistics report Tuesday that living costs in February jumped four-tenths of one per cent—the biggest increase in four months. The bureau said this more than wiped out increases in earnings.

Chairman William McClesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board told Congress, however, that the spending ceiling and the surtax were having an effect in curbing inflation.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford told reporters Tuesday the administration believes "we may have reached the high-water mark of inflation."

He predicted that living costs may not rise more than 3 per cent this year, compared to 5 per cent last year.

Pilots Urge Stiff Stand On Hijackers

AMSTERDAM (AP) — The International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations warned today that it may call a worldwide strike for 12 or 24 hours if airline hijacking is not suitably punished.

A resolution unanimously adopted by the federation's annual conference said it may also take these actions against nations that don't punish hijackers:

1. A ban on all air traffic into the country.
2. Coordinated action to restrict movement of the country's aircraft and to restrict movement of cargo to and from the country, either by air or surface.

The federation represents 70 per cent of the world's 6,500 airline pilots. The Soviet Union was represented by observers, but Cuba, the chief target of the resolution, was not represented.

Earlier, the conference adopted a resolution saying that the federations executive committee is authorized to impose a ban of flights into the offending state when it does not allow the crew of a hijacked plane to leave within 48 hours.

Israeli Planes Hammer Arabs Inside Jordan

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes attacked an Arab guerrilla base near the Jordanian town of Salt today, the army announced.

"A few planes went into action at 1430 (2:30 p.m.)," a spokesman said, and all returned unscathed.

Salt is 10 miles east of the Jordan River cease-fire line and about 15 miles west of Amman, the Jordanian capital.

Guerrilla bases around Salt came under heavy Israeli attack last summer, Israel charging the barren, stony area was packed with saboteurs staging raids against the Jewish state. Heavier military action has centered lately on the Suez Canal.

Actor Alan Mowbray Dies At 72

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — His butler roles were universally acclaimed, John Barrymore called him "a worthy adversary" as an actor.

Alan Mowbray loved acting and actors in general.

"If a bomb hit Hollywood, it would only be a matter of time before someone was squatting amid the ruins telling stories," he once said.

Four days after entering Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital, Mowbray died Tuesday of a heart attack at 72.

A London native, he was a naturalized U. S. citizen who appeared in more than 400 movie roles after starting his acting career on the English stage. He played in New York stock companies in 1923-29.

Mowbray's films included "Lady Hamilton," "Captain from Castile," "The Steel Cage," "Ma and Pa Kettle at Home," "The King and I," and "The Man Who Knew Too Much." He returned to New York in 1964 for the play, "Enter Laughing."

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Paradox, with the Nixon Administration, is the name of the game. To head the Peace Corps, which is public action, Nixon has picked a "voluntarist," Joseph H. Blatchford, who has perhaps done more for proving the case for the superiority of private action in the foreign aid field than any other man living. Joe, a former touring tennis champion who had been horrified by poverty in Latin America, started something called Accion en Venezuela back in 1961 on a shoestring, with the intention of getting people in the Caracas slums interested in doing something for themselves. I have written about Joe from time to time as Accion en Venezuela grew from something working on a $150,000 annual budget, raised chiefly in the United States, to a $1,500,000 budget, most of it coming from local sources in Venezuela itself.

It wouldn't be quite correct to say that Joe Blatchford has been contemptuous of government. What he has been contemptuous of is the average mortal's inability to stand prosperity. Joe has always noticed that when funds come easy they are frequently wasted. A government bureaucrat gets his money the easy way, as a donation from the Congress. Joe Blatchford, in turning Accion en Venezuela into a larger organization called Accion International with affiliates in Brazil and Peru, has never had the taxpayer behind him; he has had to scramble for every nickel that his self-help organizations have spent.

So, in running his own "private peace corps," Joe has had to apply a strict "cost benefit analysis" to the business of spurring individuals to organize self-improvement in their own behalf. He has now put himself on the spot, taking over a government venture in which he will be relieved of the necessity of drumming up his own cash. But if Joe is true to every precept which he has followed in his thirty-four years of action-packed life, he will do with the public Peace Corps what he has already done with Accion International.

The choice of Joe Blatchford is an example of brilliant staffing by the Nixon Administration. Last Autumn Joe was one of the casualties of the Republican election campaign. He had gone back to his home state of California to run for Congress from the Los Angeles harbor district, an area which traditionally goes heavily for the Democrats. Nixon's friend Bob Finch knows this part of the world well, for he himself had lost elections there. Joe organized his campaign as he had organized the slum barrios in Caracas, Lima, Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo to go to work on community projects. He lost the election by a hair. But by running ahead of Republican Senatorial candidate Max Rafferty and Nixon in his district he established himself as a political comer in addition to being a go-getter in the field of private foreign aid.

As head of the Peace Corps Joe starts with tremendous good will in Latin America. Working through slum leaders, his Accion en Venezuela organized 400 separate improvement projects last year. In Brazil, Accao Comunitaria built bridges and schools. Ironically Joe will now be competing with his own Accion International for talent. He is leaving a vital young man named Terry Holcombe, a college football player who was graduated from Yale in 1964, to run the various Accion affiliates in Venezuela, Brazil and Peru. Holcombe has made Joe promise to refrain from raiding Accion, which derives its name, over with their own self-help projects, the North Americans have been moved to other districts. If Joe Blatchford remains true to his philosophy, he will try to make the Peace Corps selfiquidating over the long term, using North American volunteers to bring skills to developing nations that will, in time, learn to go it on their own.

It is up to Joe to keep his sense of paradox alive. The only justification for the Peace Corps is to end the need for a Peace Corps.

WASHINGTON MEMO

By Congressman CHALMERS P. WYLIE
15th District of Ohio

Cost-of-living increases for recipients of Social Security, Railroad Retirement and veterans' benefits are provided for in bills which I introduced in the House of Representatives last week.

Such automatic increases seem quite fair for these persons on fixed income and they are in line with hundreds of appeals from retirees now feeling the pinch of ever-increasing living costs.

Many letters are arriving dealing with the anti-ballistic missile system, as hearings are now under way in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. While I tend to support the position of President Nixon favoring a modified system with emphasis on defense, I am awaiting committee reports and debates in Congress before making a final decision. This is a complicated problem on which, in my opinion, the experts on both sides deserve a hearing.

Scores of nature-loving students have written to protest a proposed dam on Clear Creek in northern Hocking County. This is not in my 15th Ohio District, but I have informed the Corps of Engineers of my concern. No final decision had been made, pending a hearing in Logan on March 20.

Bills and resolutions introduced in the House of Representatives since January 20 have passed the 10,000 mark last week, while in the Senate the total was approaching 2,000. Of the House total, some 9,000 were bills and the remainder resolutions. All have been referred to committees for hearings and recommendations, prior to action by House and Senate.

One subcommittee has been added to my assignments this year, that of Domestic Finance in the House Committee on Banking and Currency. My previous subcommittee assignments continue, those of Small Business, Bank Supervision and Insurance and Consumer Affairs.

The Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments, before which I testified two weeks ago, continues its consideration of various plans to eliminate the Electoral College.

One of these is my resolution proposing a choice of four methods of determining the election of President and Vice President. The one method receiving approval from legislatures of three-fourths of the state would prevail. The choice would be from the following: popular vote, Congressional districts, a proportional vote plan, or the present method with the electoral college eliminated.

Mrs. Wylie and I had the honor to be guests of President and Mrs. Nixon at a reception honoring members of Congress on March 13. This was our first visit to the White House since President Nixon took office on January 20 as the nation's 37th Chief Executive.

It was a great thrill when the President said, "Hi, Chalmers," then to Pat, "Here are two very good friends from Columbus, Ohio." After the reception we had a further opportunity to talk with the President about housing, jobs and related problems, as well as with Vice President Agnew and the various Cabinet members. The President appeared relaxed and thoroughly enjoying his conversations with Members of Congress and their wives.

Twice last week, I cast my vote against increased federal expenditures.

The first was a bill to increase salaries of officers of Congress. Just as I earlier had opposed increases for Members of Congress, I again voted against the substantial raises proposed for officers of House and Senate. The measure carried by 181 to 64.

My second negative vote was against the proposal for still another increase in the debt ceiling. Although President Nixon had asked for approval, largely to cover obligations incurred by the preceding Administration, I voted against the increase. This was in line with my record of voting against every such proposal for debt ceiling increases since I came to Congress. The debt ceiling increase was passed with assurances that extraordinary effort would be made to avoid any increases next year.

Friday morning I had the pleasure to address a group of Columbus West High students on the subject "God and Country." It is refreshing that in this day of trouble on both college and high school campuses West High has students who still encourage love for God and country.

Constituent mail relating to Vietnam has been on the increase in the past two weeks. Hopeful during the early part of the new year for progress both from the Paris peace talks and the new Administration, residents of the 15th District are becoming impatient for some evidence of movement toward a decision. I share that concern, and have passed our feeling on to Administration officials.

The streptococcus is one of many germs responsible for infections everywhere in the body. In the mouth, the "strep" is but one of a vast group that normally live in happy relationship with each other without causing any disease. It is only when resistance is low that the "strep" germ may cause the severe pain, redness and swelling characteristic of the "strep" throat. NEW YORK (AP) — Memories are like snowflakes and fingerprints. No two of them are exactly alike.

No matter how close two people are or how deeply involved in the same event, their memories of it later will vary. One's individual history, of course, is largely an accumulation of his memories. And you've got a pretty good collection yourself if you can look back and remember when—

If a woman wore a wig, she tried to keep it a secret. The only gals who generally appeared in public clad in miniskirts were those who sold cigarettes in night clubs.

Stenographers usually worked with a pencil stuck in their buns. Only sick people were expected to go on diets. A family had to be unusually well off to afford two automobiles or two bathrooms. Moralists were decrying the trend toward twin beds as a precursor of widespread divorce. If you knocked on someone's front door on Sunday morning and nobody answered, you figured they'd all gone to church together.

When a housewife wanted to serve cake for dinner, she baked it—instead of thawing it. One of the problems of childhood was to watch what was going on in all three rings of the circus when you only had two eyes to see with.

For a sum of money a phrenologist would foretell your future by feeling the bumps on your head, which told him what qualities of mind you had or lacked.

A kid thought he was on the road to wealth if he could hold his piggy bank in his ear, shake it—and hear more than one clink.

Some people were afraid to sleep in the light of a full moon for fear it would drive them daft.

Only elderly folks took medicine regularly, and what they took was usually something that the druggist prescribed with the remark, "This should be good for what ails you."

In the average small town there wasn't any real reason to stay up until midnight except on Saturday night—and then only if you were young and in love.

If you saw a home in which the living room blinds were pulled down, you could be pretty sure the couple who lived there were away on vacation or else indulging in a family spat they didn't want the neighbors to see.

For a dime a kid could buy enough penny candy to give himself a stomachache.

The worst curse of boyhood was having to spend a Saturday afternoon beating a rug in the backyard while the rest of the gang were off swimming or playing ball.

There was still some truth to the old saying about girls—"sweet sixteen and never been kissed."

SPEED TRAP?—Police at Brielle, N.J., have moved their highway radar equipment riverside to check on high-speed summer traffic, which could face a $500 fine for going too fast on the channel.

Paradox, with the Nixon Administration, is the name of the game. To head the Peace Corps, which is public action, Nixon has picked a "voluntarist," Joseph H. Blatchford, who has perhaps done more for proving the case for the superiority of private action in the foreign aid field than any other man living. Joe, a former touring tennis champion who had been horrified by poverty in Latin America, started something called Accion en Venezuela back in 1961 on a shoestring, with the intention of getting people in the Caracas slums interested in doing something for themselves. I have written about Joe from time to time as Accion en Venezuela grew from something working on a $150,000 annual budget, raised chiefly in the United States, to a $1,500,000 budget, most of it coming from local sources in Venezuela itself.

It wouldn't be quite correct to say that Joe Blatchford has been contemptuous of government. What he has been contemptuous of is the average mortal's inability to stand prosperity. Joe has always noticed that when funds come easy they are frequently wasted. A government bureaucrat gets his money the easy way, as a donation from the Congress. Joe Blatchford, in turning Accion en Venezuela into a larger organization called Accion International with affiliates in Brazil and Peru, has never had the taxpayer behind him; he has had to scrounge for every nickel that his self-help organizations have spent.

So, in running his own "private peace corps," Joe has had to apply a strict "cost benefit analysis" to the business of spurring individuals to organize self-improvement in their own behalf. He has now put himself on the spot, taking over a government venture in which he will be relieved of the necessity of drumming up his own cash. But if Joe is true to every precept which he has followed in his thirty-four years of action-packed life, he will do with the public Peace Corps what he has already done with Accion International.

The choice of Joe Blatchford is an example of brilliant staffing by the Nixon Administration. Last Autumn Joe was one of the casualties of the Republican election campaign. He had gone back to his home state of California to run for Congress from the Los Angeles harbor district, an area which traditionally goes heavily for the Democrats. Nixon's friend Bob Finch knows this part of the world well, for he himself had lost elections there. Joe organized his campaign as he had organized the slum barrios in Caracas, Lima, Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo to go to work on community projects. He lost the election by a hair. But by running ahead of Republican Senatorial candidate Max Rafferty and Nixon in his district he established himself as a political comer in addition to being a go-getter in the field of private foreign aid.

As head of the Peace Corps Joe starts with tremendous good will in Latin America. Working through slum leaders, his Accion en Venezuela organized 400 separate improvement projects last year. In Brazil, Accion Comunitaria built bridges and schools. Ironically Joe will now be competing with his own Accion International for talent. He is leaving a vital young man named Terry Holcombe, a college football player who was graduated from Yale in 1964, to run the various Accion affiliates in Venezuela, Brazil and Peru. Holcombe has made Joe promise to refrain from raiding

Accion, which derives its name, incidentally, from the acronym for Americans for Community Cooperation in Other Nations. Since Accion, under Joe Blatchford has helped train workers for the Peace Corps in the past, Joe is in a position to get service from his old organization without raiding its existing personnel. Accion's own idea has been to use North Americans as sparingly as possible in doing its Latin American work. As fast as local talent could be trained in the barrios to take over with their own self-help projects, the North Americans have been moved to other districts. If Joe Blatchford remains true to his philosophy, he will try to make the Peace Corps selfliquidating over the long term, using North American volunteers to bring skills to developing nations that will, in time, learn to go it on their own. It is up to Joe to keep his sense of paradox alive. The only justification for the Peace Corps is to end the need for a Peace Corps.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
I would like to express my views on a subject that I believe every person should be concerned about.

The "Cost of Living" is its title and it is a serious problem. The residents of Circleville are now paying more for their license plates, and a county wide increase is being considered. More money is being demanded for the operation and building of city and county schools.

Employees and employers in Circleville now have to pay city income tax. The prices of food, rent, medicine, gasoline, clothes and everything in general that a person uses every day have increased.

The majority of the people in this county work every day, but this continued rise in prices is beginning to put them in a bind. There are also quite a few people in this county who are too old and of ill health to work every day and are living on social security.

I would like to ask the leaders of this county and its voters this question. How many times have you considered these people when you proposed or voted for new taxes?

These people have struggled all of their lives to get what little they have, some have been fortunate enough to purchase their own homes. They have fought through the 50 cents a day wage period, sent their children through school, beat down the diseases and suffered the hardships we have never had to worry about. They helped make this community what it is today.

What are we doing to repay them for all of this?

We are asking them to help send our children through school, help build our roads and streets and in general help finance many things they now have little or no use for. They don't drive their cars, if they still have one, over the streets of Circleville as much as a person who lives somewhere else but works in Circleville. But they have to pay that extra $5 for tags. We can tack away a couple of weeks wages during the year to pay property taxes. They have to use two months social security checks.

I believe the time has come to relieve these fine elderly people of the burden that they have carried so long.

I would like to see the leaders of this county and the city of Circleville join forces and relieve the people living on social security or any fixed income of less than $3,000 a year of paying property and extra license taxes.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Teen-Ager Fed Up With Her Country

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who is disgusted with the U. S. A. Tonight I read in the newspaper where a 26-year-old man volunteered to join an army reserve unit but was turned down because his HAIR was too long.

Abby, for God's sake, he VOLUNTEERED to serve his country, and they wouldn't have him — and what for? His hair! I have never heard of anything so ridiculous in all my life!

First the government complains because of draft-card burners, then when someone wants to fight for his country they tell him he can't because of his hair style. And the establishment wonders why the youth rebels. I am ready to pack my bags and move to Australia.

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Men in the service must cut their hair to regulation — just as they must dress uniformly. There are sound reasons for this just as there are arguments in favor of one's "right" to his individuality. I'm not so sure you'd find it any different in Australia.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the man who thought his wife was in love with her doctor brought to mind the following: I vaguely recall some of the outlandish things I said when I was coming out of the anesthetic after having given birth to my first child.

I admired and trusted my obstetrician. I was extremely grateful for the care he had given me, and, of course, I was glad to have it all over. In my conscious state I wouldn't have looked at this doctor twice. He was old, short, fat and homely and my husband was young, tall, and handsome, but for some crazy reason I heard myself saying things to my doctor that only a woman would say to the man she loved.

I believe doctors (especially obstetricians) are familiar with this type of thing. It's not at all unusual. It's only temporary, and I think it's called "transference."

NO HARM DONE

DEAR NO HARM: You're right. And there is no harm done as long as it's only temporary, and you don't transfer too much.

DEAR ABBY: Once you told a girl who wrote in and said she never got asked to dance that if she wouldn't stand in a crowd with a bunch of other girls she might get asked. I remembered that advice altho at the time I was too young to go to dances. Well, I just came from my first school dance and I took that advice and I was chosen. Thank you.

PLAIN BUT PICKED
DEAR PICKED: Good! Now a few more helpful words on that subject. If you should have to stand around with other girls, don't pick the prettiest ones. A smart crowd never hangs around peacocks.

DEAR ABBY: I read that letter from the man who

Ohio Senate Delays Action On Bill To Regulate Firms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee has reluctantly agreed to delay action on a bill to force conglomerate corporations to publicly review plans for Ohio companies which they might try to take over.

Although the committee had planned to take action Monday night, the bill was delayed "for one week" after three corporate lobbyists pleaded for two to four more weeks to study it.

The bill is aimed at protecting Ohio shareholders and Ohio-based corporations.

It would require industrial conglomerates wanting to take over an Ohio industry to publicly reveal in advance its plans for the corporation.

In general, the bill has the backing of both business and labor.

"I don't understand this mad rush," a Cleveland lobbyist said after the committee meeting.

David A. Kaufman, representing the Automatic Vending Corp. of Cleveland, said he felt that if the bill is good, "there is no need to rush it through."

Kaufman said since the committee has decided to exclude from the bill any corporation with less than 50 shareholders, it should also consider excluding corporations in which their directors and managements own less than 10 per cent of the stock.

He said the bill's disclosure provisions "would cause delay and would become an accepted method of killing a deal."

Gordon Shearer of Cincinnati, representing the American Financial Corp., told the committee his company "wasn't aware" that a substitute bill had been approved by the subcommittee.

Shearer later called it "a management bill" and said it is being pushed by the National Association of Manufacturers.

Sen. Ralph S. Regula, R-29 Navarre was the only witness heard on the bill.

"I endorse the bill, he said. Action is needed."

Regula explained in Stark County, which he represents, there are many Ohio based firms that could be affected by conglomerate takeovers.

In other action, the Judiciary Committee turned over a bill to revise and a bill to abolish Ohio's garnishment laws, to a subcommittee.

A bill passed by the Senate 31-0 would provide permanent fishing licenses for persons age 65 and over. The one-time cost would be $4.

Ray Will Definitely Seek New Trial

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—James Earl Ray definitely will change his plea to innocent in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and will seek a new trial, the head of the National States Rights party announced Tuesday.

Edward R. Fields, NSRP chairman, said he made the announcement on behalf of J. B. Stoner, NSRP vice chairman. He said Stoner would represent Ray in the case.

'Peace March' Set In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Peace groups are planning a large-scale march and rally April 5 in Chicago to protest what they call America's "war machine."

The march also looms as a protest of the indictment Thursday of eight leaders of antiwar demonstrations during last year's Democratic National Convention.

Maxwell Primack, co-chairman of the Chicago Peace Council, said Monday the march not originally planned as a response to the indictments but now has a connection with them.

"This march was planned first in December," Primack said. "The council has held a similar peace demonstration in Chicago annually for 10 years."

Forecasting a peaceful march, Primack said he didn't think Chicago authorities want any trouble. A permit has been granted for the march, he said.

Find Boy's Body Under Rubble Pile

RHOSYBOL, Wales (AP) — The body of a 14-year-old boy who fell down an abandoned mine shaft Sunday was found today under tons of rubble 200 feet down.

More than 100 miners, police, firemen and cave explorers had been searching for Brian Williams after he slipped and fell down the shaft while playing with friends near his home on the Welsh island of Anglesey.

Ravenna Council OKs Pay Increases

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — Ravenna City Council has granted a five per cent wage hike to 250 city employees, the second raise in a three-step plan promised last year when police and firemen stayed out on sick call.

All employees will receive another five per cent raise April 1, 1970. Safety forces stayed out in March, 1968, for higher wages and negotiated a raise that was granted to all employees.

David A. Kaufman, representing the Automatic Vending Corp. of Cleveland, said he felt that if the bill is good, "there is no need to rush it through."

Wedding Vows Exchanged
In Roanoke, Virginia

MRS. WILLIAM EDWARD PHILLIPS

Miss Seva Louise Early and William Edward Phillips exchanged wedding vows 8 p.m. March 17, in Grandin Court Baptist Church, Roanoke, Va. The Rev. Robert Hamner performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Early Jr. of Roanoke, Va., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Edward Phillips of Roanoke, formerly of Circleville.

Escorted to the altar by her father the bride was attired in a formal gown of silk peau de soie fashioned on princess lines. Hand embroidered Alencon lace shadowed the scalloped bateau neckline, the long pointed sleeves and the wide scalloped hem. She wore a cathedral length mantilla of French illusion with a peau bow bordered with matching Alencon lace and carried an old fashioned bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and centered with white orchids.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Pamela Early, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Edward Starkey, Oxford, Pa., sister of the bride; Miss Ann Jessup, Miss Gail Whitaker and Miss Barbara Nelson, of Roanoke, Va.

The duties of best man were performed by Bruce Bartmess. Ushers were Edward Starkey, Oxford, Pa.; Robert Bowles, Robert Coleman, James Starkey and John Murphy of Roanoke, Va.

A reception in the reception hall of the church immediately followed the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Western Community College and is presently employed by Piedmont Airlines.

Mr. Phillips was graduated from Virginia Western Community College, served in the KIWANIS GUEST SPEAKERS — Rev. Alonzo Hill, right, of Circleville Wesleyan Church presented a short Lenten message for Kiwanians. Also appearing at the Monday meeting was Joe Taylor for SEA of Columbus. He showed movies on shoplifting and suggested methods of curbing it. Taylor noted that half the shoplifters are juveniles, a large percent are housewives. Professionals make up 10 percent but are responsible for 90 percent of the goods taken.

Pentagon Nixes Use Of GIs As Guards On U.S. Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has rejected the use of military armed guards to ride shotgun on commercial airliners to prevent hijackings because the potential dangers to passengers and crew are too great.

"The potential danger to the lives of all persons aboard the aircraft, due to possible death or injury to the crew or critical damage to the aircraft itself, will greatly limit the effective use of (the guard's) firearm," officials said.

Youngstown Voters Face Levy Again

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Youngstown residents who have defeated six straight Board of Education proposals for operating levies of 12 mills or less will vote on another 12 mill proposal on the May 6 primary ballot.

Board of education members insist that a 16 mill operating levy is really needed, but abandoned suggestions for it as unrealistic following defeats of levies for 12, 12, 12, six, 7.5, and five mills in the last two years.

Also, the Defense Department said, the use of a gun or physical force to deal with a hijacker holding a hostage "is extremely difficult in the cramped quarters of a commercial airliner without placing the life of the hostage in extreme jeopardy."

The suggestion for armed guards was made by Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee, a Pentagon spokesman said, in the wake of many hijackings of airliners to Cuba.

The Defense Department considered the proposal of furnishing Marines or other military guards on planes carrying government personnel in possession of military secrets.

In addition to the safety factor, the Pentagon said "the size of the Marine guard force required to ride the aircraft involved would be very large" because of the many military and civilian personnel having highly classified information traveling on commercial planes.

The Defense Department also noted that "discussions would have to be undertaken with many countries before the United States could authorize the use of armed military guards aboard U.S.-registered aircraft traveling to foreign countries."

It dismissed the idea of transporting classified matter only on government planes, saying this would require possible establishment of a military mail service and an "immense logistic effort."

"There is no evidence that Cuba authorities have tampered with U.S. mail aboard any hijacked aircraft to date," the Pentagon said.

Pen Pals Finally Meet In Wyoming

KINNEAR, Wyo. (AP) — When Mrs. Bill Watson of Kinneare was a pupil at a small rural school she started corresponding with a pen pal.

The two girls kept in touch with each other through their grade school and high school days, the early years of their marriage and finally corresponded about their children and grandchildren.

Recently Mrs. Pau Imeeks of Council Bluffs, Iowa, stopped at Kinneare en route to Oregon for a vacation. The two pen pals who had written to each other for 43 years finally met face to face.

Life On Mars Said Possible, Despite Parched Conditions

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists studying light reflected from Mars report "definite and conclusive" evidence of water in the red planet's atmosphere, indicating the possibility of life.

Mars is so dry, however, that only the driest deserts of Earth or peaks like Mt. Everest compare.

Dr. Ronald Schorn of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said he is convinced after five years' observation there is enough water in Mars' atmosphere to fill a lake a mile wide, a mile deep and a mile long.

"If you took all the water we found, and laid it out on the planet, it would be only one-1,000th of an inch thick," he said Monday night. "It still may not be a great place to live but there's a chance of life there."

Schorn and Steven Little of the University of Texas made their observations through the 86-inch telescope at McDonald Observatory at Fort Davis, Tex. Schorn said the scientists photographed the spectrum of Mars' atmosphere with infrared film. The spectrograph photo showed the presence of water in the planet's cloud cover, he said.

"There's hardly a place on earth with that low a humidity reading," he said. "The only place I could think of is the top of Mt. Everest. There's more water on Earth's deserts than on Mars."

So far, there is no way to measure whether some portions of Mars have more water than others, he said. But with a new 107-inch telescope now in use, the scientists expect to look at smaller regions of the planet.

"We'll be able to see if this is localized—whether some areas of Mars are more capable of sustaining life than others," the astronomer predicted.

Priests End Convention Work; Debate

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The National Federation of Priests' Councils (NFPC) wound up routine convention business speedily to move into open debate today on the Roman Catholic issues of contraception, celibacy and defuncting priests.

The Rev. Patrick O'Malley of Chicago, NFPC president, said there was no plan to bring up specific issues when the meeting was opened to the 250 delegates for resolutions on any subject.

But the delegation from Washington, D.C., composed of two priests whose cardinal ordered them out of their rectories last fall for saying Catholic spouses could follow their consciences in using contraceptives, intended to push for clear-cut federation statements on that moral question and others.

The Rev. Joseph O'Donoghue, backed by his colleague the Rev. John Corrigan, had complained when the three-day national convention began Monday that none of the "grave crises we face" in current church life was included on the convention agenda.

The federation, formed less than a year ago, has been generally moderate in its approach to Catholicism's internal turmoil.

The delegates Tuesday night went into separate geographic regional caucuses to talk over the positions they would take once free debate started.

Several resolutions prepared by NFPC committees in advance of the convention were defeated in voting at a session that lasted until late Tuesday.

One was a resolution calling for the Pope to name an American prelate, in place of one from Italy, as the apostolic delegate—or papal liaison man with the U.S. bishops—in Washington.

A resolution supporting the creation of civilian police review boards in U.S. cities was defeated on the grounds that an organization of priests should not get involved.

Minister Loses Sentence Appeal

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Rev. Ian Paisley, moderator of the Free Presbyterian church, has lost an appeal against six months in jail for his part in civil rights clashes with Roman Catholics last autumn.

Locked up with him Tuesday was his top aide, Maj. Ronald Bunting, after rejection of their bid to void their convictions on charges of unlawful assembly.

The disorders arose from claims by Northern Ireland's Catholic minority that they are victims of discrimination in jobs, housing and voting regulations.

Dust spirals often whirl in from nearby hills to shroud Cairo.

Article Written By Ike Hits Extremist Threat To U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, in an article written before his latest operation, says Americans must dedicate themselves to "common sense" government to fight off extremist threats from the left and right.

"Extremists of the far left and the far right" are "people who cause most of the trouble in the world," Eisenhower said in an article for the April issue of Reader's Digest magazine.

He praised President Nixon as "man of the center in thought and politics."

But he had harsh words for former Alabama Gov. George Wallace and the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

"I was delighted when it became obvious last November that one extremist on the American political scene, George Wallace, had gone down to defeat with a much smaller percentage of the vote than had been anticipated," he said.

"His campaign was a calculated attempt to gain the balance of power by whetting the emotions of anger, fear and hate. These are nearly always the weapons of the extremist, and with them he sometimes gains his ends. Hitler did for a while, and he very nearly wrecked the world," the general said.

He said that McCarthy was an "extremist" he had to deal with during his administration.

Eisenhower said McCarthy used his position of immunity as chairman of a Senate investigating subcommittee to issue "wild, exaggerated and often wholly false statements charging that there were thousands of Communists in government positions."

Although many people urged him to "smash McCarthy by a public denunciation," he said, he refused believing that "instead of smashing him, I would only have enhanced his stature."

"I was convinced that, through his own excesses, he would destroy himself," Eisenhower said.

Nurses Set To Walk Out

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — St. Vincent Charity Hospital, one of the busiest in Cleveland, began cutting back services today in anticipation of a possible strike by nurses Monday.

The hospital limited admissions and said that wherever feasible patients now under treatment will be discharged before Monday. Others would be moved to the new south building and the rest of the hospital would be closed.

The 430-bed hospital handles 20,000 emergency cases a year, admits 10,500 patients and performs 68,000 surgical operations.

The hospital employs 170 to 180 licensed nurses, of whom about 152 belong to the Ohio Nurses Association.

Support Payments Increase For Minors In Divorce Cases

There was an impressive increase in 1968 payments for support of minor children involved in divorce actions, Sara M. Dresbach, Pickaway County Clerk of Courts and director of the Bureau of Support, announced Monday.

A 32 per cent increase was noted as $243,310.07 was paid through the Clerk of Courts office in 1968. This compared with $184,042.25 paid in 1967, an increase of $59,267.82, Mrs. Dresbach reported.

Included in the amount for 1968 was collected $6,208.23 collected from fathers where families are on county welfare, thus reducing the welfare costs in such cases. Amounts collected for families on welfare are paid directly to the county welfare department.

In 1967 the legislature authorized the common pleas court in each county to establish a bureau of support in order to facilitate and enforce support payments for minor children in divorce cases.

WITH the establishment of this bureau, a father who has been ordered to pay for support of minor children is notified by the bureau if he is two weeks in arrears. The bureau requests that he pay the amount due. If he fails to do so, the common pleas judge signs an order for his appearance in court to show cause why he should not be held in contempt. If he fails to appear, a warrant is issued for his arrest.

Common Pleas Judge William Ammer stated that, through such a procedure, a person is notified automatically by the bureau of his arrears and mother need not retain legal counsel to enforce such support order.

In nearly 90 per cent of the cases, the father will pay any arrears upon receiving his first letter, Judge Ammer stated. The effectiveness of such a bureau in enforcing payments is readily apparent by the increase in payments in 1968, he said.

Given Life Sentence

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sentence of life imprisonment in Ohio Penitentiary was imposed in Common Pleas Court Monday on Jewell Hale, 19, convicted last week in the robbery slaying of Hadley Campbell, 76, a grocer. Hale also was given a concurrent 10-25 year term for armed robbery.

The Bureau of Support was established by Judge Ammer on Jan. 1, 1968 and Mrs. Dresbach was named as director. As support payments have been always made through the clerk of courts, making the bureau a part of that office served to reduce the costs of operating the agency.

With additional appropriations by the Pickaway County Commissioners, one additional deputy clerk has handled the collections, payments and all paperwork of the bureau, Mrs. Dresbach said. Miss Caryl McCoskey, as deputy clerk, has been in charge of the Bureau since its start.

Although the statute authorizes investigators for the Bureau, none has been found necessary here, Mrs. Dresbach pointed out.

Missing Candy, Chip Man Found

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Robert Cannon, 29-year-old Toledo candy and potato chip distributor reported missing last Wednesday, has turned up safe and sound, police reported today.

Police at first suspected that Cannon had been kidnapped by burglars at his business place when an empty money bag was found on the floor.

Police reported that Cannon was located early this morning and was in good health. They issued no further details.

Living Costs Up Sharply In February

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs jumped four-tenths of one per cent in February, largest increase in four months, because of sharp increases of housing, transportation and clothing, the Labor Department said today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics also reported that despite record high earnings of $111 per week for some 45 million rank and file workers, purchasing power dropped because of continued steady climb in prices.

Grocery prices dropped two-tenths of one per cent last month but every other major category of typical family costs went up. Housing rose five-tenths of 1 per cent, clothing four-tenths, medical care seven-tenths and transportation climbed 1.1 per cent.

The over-all rise brought the government's consumer price index up to 124.6. This means it cost $12.46 in February goods and services worth $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

The bureau also reported significant rises in wholesale prices, up four-tenths in February. Preliminary figures indicate another rise of five-tenths of one per cent this month.

The wholesale increases were largely due to soaring lumber and plywood prices, up 37 per cent and 95 per cent respectively.

Rusk Against Deploying ABM

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk says the United States should proceed with research and development of an antiballistic missile but delay final deployment decisions pending talks with the Russians.

He said the United States should "find out from the Russians what is possible in terms of an agreement, before we make any large and far-reaching and long-term and absolute commitments about the future."

Rusk's comments were made in a taped interview for NBC's "Today" show.

He said the United States should "find out from the Russians what is possible in terms of an agreement, before we make any large and far-reaching and long-term and absolute commitments about the future."

Rusk's comments were made in a taped interview for NBC's "Today" show.

U.S. Says Big 4 Meeting On Mideast Unlikely Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says preliminary negotiations have failed so far to produce the necessary groundwork for a Big Four meeting on the explosive Middle East situation.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said Monday "insufficient consensus" among the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France is preventing a four-way meeting.

At the same time, however, some officials see progress in the bilateral talks American diplomats have been holding with their Soviet, French and British counterparts in an effort to find a way to end the near-war between Israel and the Arab countries.

They say the Soviets and French now agree that Israel's withdrawal from the territory it captured in the six-day war in 1967 need not mean complete evacuation and that there can be some border adjustments where earlier boundaries did not make sense.

The United States agreed reluctantly in February to hold the four-power meeting suggested by the French, but insisted on two-way talks among the four countries first to see if a full conference would be fruitful.

American officials were doubtful of the value of the four-power talks because they felt only the United States and the Soviet Union were in a position to influence the two sides in the Middle East.

The Americans suspect the Paris proposal was an attempt to restore French influence in the area.

American officials hoped the recent Washington visit of Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban would result in the forming of a position the United States can represent at the proposed four-power gathering. The hope did not materialize.

No one knows where Hannibal and his elephants traversed the Alps. Mark Twain said, "The researches of many antiquarians have already thrown much darkness on the subject, and it is probable if they continue that we shall soon know nothing at all."

Administration Proposes Changes In Health Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration proposed Tuesday a radical redirection of federal programs for construction of health facilities, emphasizing block grants to the states, guaranteed loans and nonhospital services.

Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, asked Congress to drop the Hill-Burton program of grants for hospital construction in favor of a $500 million annual loan program aimed at modernizing existing hospitals.

The Hill-Burton appropriation for the current fiscal year is $254 million.

Finch also outlined a new $150 million a year program of block grants to states "to expand such other facilities as outpatient clinics, neighborhood health centers, skilled nursing homes and structures designed to increase efficient sharing of hospital resources."

Finch proposed the changes in a statement read by HEW Undersecretary John Veneman to a House commerce subcommittee.

He said the Hill-Burton program must be revised because it has largely met its original goal of stimulating hospital construction in rural areas.

He said the Nixon administration doubts that continuation of Hill-Burton "would assure the construction, replacement, or modernization of other health facilities which are more urgently needed than general hospital beds: facilities for ambulatory care, extended care, rehabilitation, and shared facilities."

Finch proposed instead "that grant funds be allotted to the states as a block, rather than earmarked for specific categories."

"A grant authorization of $150 million, limited to construction, replacement, or modernization of the most critical types of health facilities, would result in the most effective use of federal funds," he said.

U.S. Says Big 4 Meeting On Mideast Unlikely Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says preliminary negotiations have failed so far to produce the necessary groundwork for a Big Four meeting on the explosive Middle East situation.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said Monday "insufficient consensus" among the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France is preventing a four-way meeting.

At the same time, however, some officials see progress in the bilateral talks American diplomats have been holding with their Soviet, French and British counterparts in an effort to find a way to end the near-war between Israel and the Arab countries.

RAJKOT, India (AP) — The government has assigned 200 men to take a census of the lions in the Gir forest of Gujarat state in western India. They are the only lions in India.

They say the Soviets and French now agree that Israel's withdrawal from the territory it captured in the six-day war in 1967 need not mean complete evacuation and that there can be some border adjustments where earlier boundaries did not make sense.

The United States agreed reluctantly in February to hold the four-power meeting suggested by the French, but insisted on two-way talks among the four countries first to see if a full conference would be fruitful.

American officials were doubtful of the value of the four-power talks because they felt only the United States and the Soviet Union were in a position to influence the two sides in the Middle East.

The Americans suspect the Paris proposal was an attempt to restore French influence in the area.

American officials hoped the recent Washington visit of Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban would result in the forming of a position the United States can represent at the proposed four-power gathering. The hope did not materialize.

Drug Abuse Could Become Problem In Local Area If Not Controlled

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is the first of a ten part series on drug abuse in Pickaway County. The series was written with the help of local lawmen, doctors and drug abusers.

By JOHN PURCELL
Herald Staff Writer

The local drug abuser could be the clean-cut kid down the street, the neighborly woman next door or the young junior executive where you work.

Drug abusers in Pickaway County do not meet the popular concept of being underprivileged, criminals or hippies. They are usually otherwise respectable people involved in a growing county problem.

"The problem isn't big yet, but now is the time to do something about it, before it gets out of hand," states Circleville Policeman Wesley Barton, assigned to dealing with drug abusers.

In 1968 there were 20 people arrested in Pickaway County for the illegal purchase or use of drugs. Numerous rumors of drug abuse either could not be verified or, as in the case of smoking banana skins, taking a new vitamin complex or using catnip, could not be prosecuted.

THE abused drugs differ with the age of the group using them. Teenagers tend to use marijuana, cough medicine and hashish. A slightly younger group has turned to smelling airplane glue or gasoline. Adults are prime users of amphetamines and barbiturates.

Amphetamines are stimulants commonly called pep pills. They are often prescribed by physicians for diets and to relieve depression. The barbiturates, sometimes called goofballs, produce sleep and relieve tension.

In themselves most of the drugs abused have safe medically approved uses. However there is a growing trend to use the drugs for non-medical purposes or in quantities and frequencies beyond those specified for proper medication.

Nixon Urges Holding Firm Regulations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has called on Congress for laws regulating one-bank holding companies in order to curb "the formation of a relatively small number of power centers dominating the American economy."

In urging passage of a bill introduced Monday to place the one-bank holding companies under federal control, Nixon said: "Legislation in this area is important because there has been a disturbing trend in the past year toward erosion of the traditional separation of powers—the banks—and the users of money—commerce and industry."

"This must not be permitted to happen," he said, "it would be bad for banking, bad for business and bad for borrowers and consumers."

The bill introduced on behalf of the administration is designed to curtail expansion of operations by large banks into unrelated fields as well as to end the invasion of the banking industry by giant corporations.

Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, author of a rival bill he says is tougher than the administration's, said hearings on the measures will begin next Tuesday.

Patman said the administration bill has "crippling defects," but added:

"The important thing is that we get a good solid bill that will fully regulate these holding companies on an equitable basis."

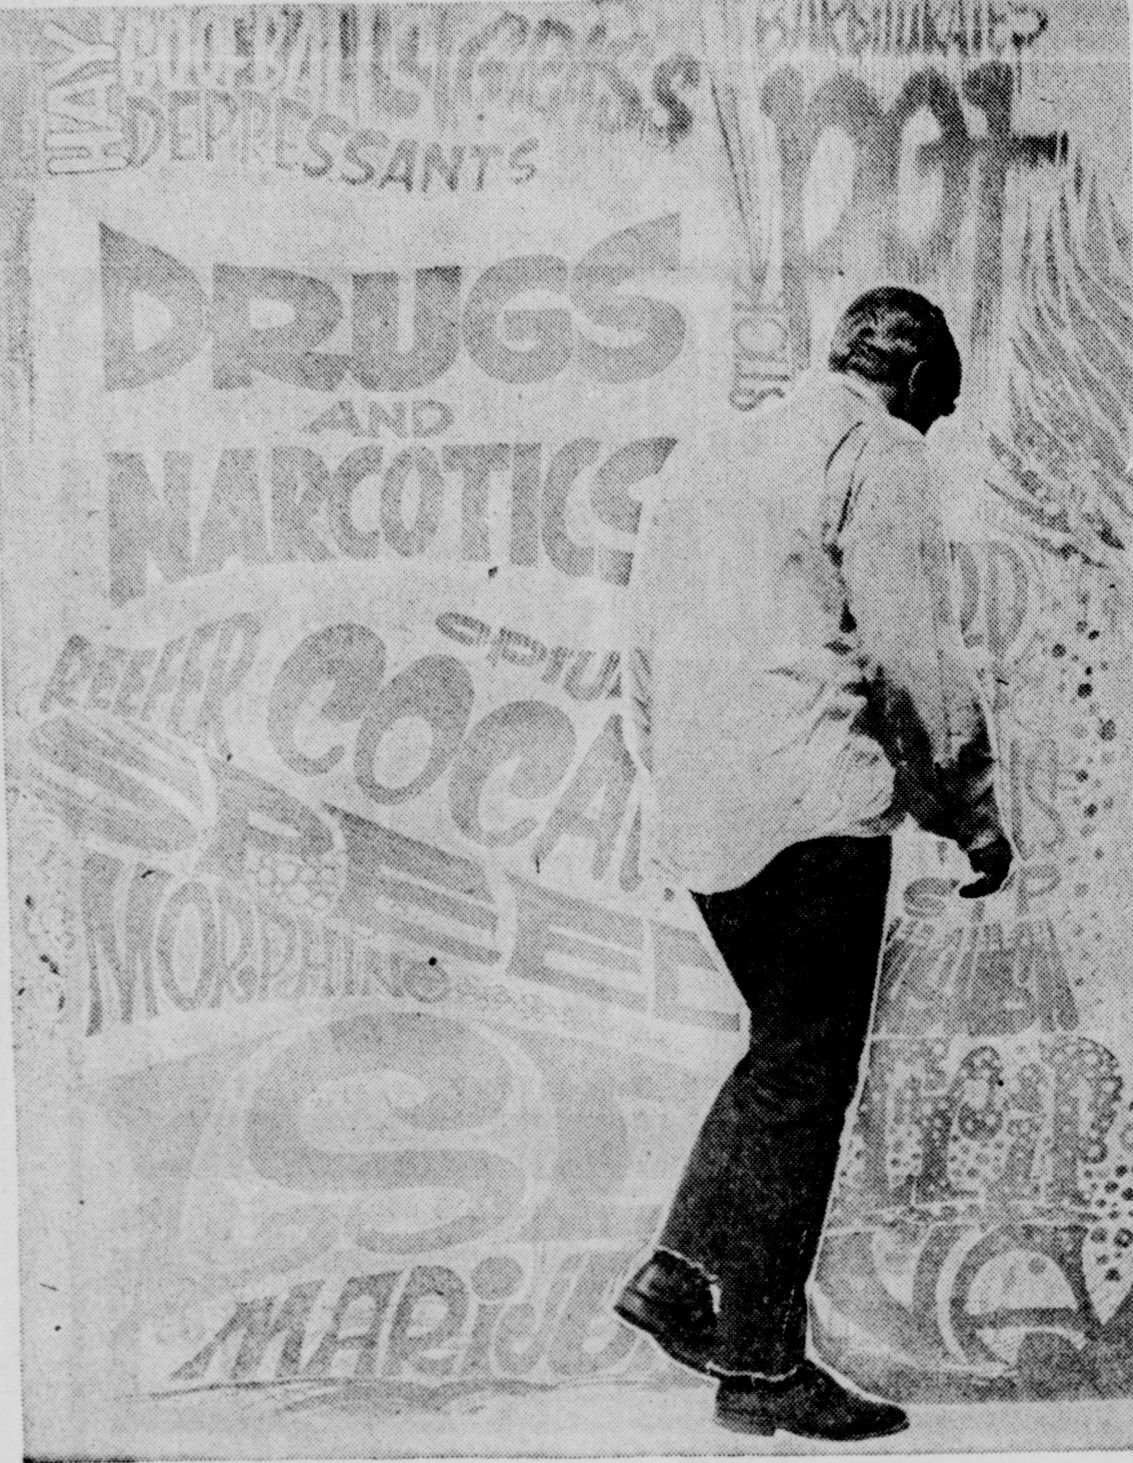

'Decency Rally' Set In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Efforts by a local newspaper columnist and a television personality have set the stage for a "Teens for Decency" rally scheduled for April 2 at the Cincinnati Gardens.

The rally is a counter measure to the alleged obscene performance March 1 at Miami of the leader of The Doors, a rock music group. A similar "decency" rally last Sunday in Miami attracted 35,000.

Columnist Frank Weikel of The Cincinnati Enquirer earlier this week issued a challenge to the city "to strike a blow for decency."

"I accepted the challenge," said Bob Braun, host of WLW-TV's "50-50 Club," which is telecast to Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

cough medicine either regularly or just as an experiment, probably comes from a good family where the members spend more money than time with each other, according to a group of local teenagers.

The price of marijuana, $5 for enough to make two cigarettes, is more than most students can afford, continued one of the students.

The students who smoke marijuana or have turned to the local trend of drinking cough medicine, are identifiable by their peers, according to a group of area high school students. They belong to their own group but generally have little more in common than the abuse of drugs.

BUT those who do use drugs are a very small minority. "Using drugs is looked down on," stated one Circleville senior. On the other hand, to experiment occasionally with drugs is approved of, or at least accepted, by a large number of students.

"Adults would flip if they knew how many kids have tried pot or alcohol illegally," stated a CHS senior. His view was readily confirmed by other students with him.

But illegal use of drugs is larger among area adults than teens, according to Policeman Barton. The groups most prone to use drugs are women whose children have grown up or gone away to school, and men and women in their mid and late 20's. The white-collar class is nationally the group most susceptible to the allurements and stimulants and depressants.

"Hard" drugs, such as heroin, seldom appear in Pickaway County. The mood-controlling stimulants and depressants are most commonly abused locally.

Many of the drugs can be purchased without a doctor's prescription, but must be signed for at the pharmacy. These are called exempt drugs. There is a legally set limit as to the amount of these drugs that can be purchased by a person within a given period of time.

The local drug abuser generally travels to surrounding cities to purchase these drugs at several different pharmacies. There are quite a few names of local people on the books of out-of-town pharmacies, according to Barton.

PHARMACY books in surrounding towns are periodically checked by local police for the names of area residents who might travel there to make purchases.

Most local drug abusers are seeking to either encourage sleep and rest or to create an extra amount of energy during the working day.

Young white collar workers are likely to start out using stimulants in an effort to get ahead in a hurry. After a while they have to turn to depressants to calm down and relax. In some cases a vicious cycle of taking pills to wake up and to go to sleep develops, according to a local physician.

Women who no longer have children or a family around to occupy their time may turn to mild depressants in an effort to escape an empty and lonely life after years of devotion and activity surrounding their family, the physician continued.

The number of local adults dependant on some kind of drugs to get through a normal day is alarming, according to another physician.

Millions of pep pills and depressants enter the greater Columbus area every year. There are enough stimulants that enter the area to keep every man, woman and child awake and jumping for one week and enough depressants to keep them all in a stupor for a week, according to a recent report by the Food and Drug Administration.

"FOR many people the use of drugs has become an accepted way of life here," stated a local industrial administrator.

"A great many of our employees use something to get an extra bit of pep in the morning or to calm down in the evening. Cigarettes were the thing, now it is pills," he said.

Alcohol and cigarettes are still the leading drugs employed by Americans, according to the American Medical Assn. The medical association classes cigarettes and alcohol along with marijuana, pep pills and depressants as drugs.

But use of drugs in place of alcohol has become a rapidly growing phenomena, according to several local doctors.

Television assaults people with a barrage of advertisements urging the viewer to take one pill or another for more energy, to relieve tension, to be popular or to have more sex appeal.

The result is that people begin to take pills indiscriminantly. If it is alright to take a pill for one problem, why not for another? If you can have a drink to calm your nerves, why not a pill?

The use of pills, legally or illegally gained, is simply an outgrowth of the stresses of our society and the thinking that produces our commercials, stressed a Circleville physician.

Army To Take Bids For Work At Deer Creek

Bids will be accepted for construction of buildings, grounds, utilities and dwellings at Deer Creek Reservoir it has been announced by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Huntington W. Va.

The work consists essentially of constructing a brick faced masonry utility building approximately 40 by 100 feet in size, gasoline and fuel oil storage facilities; bituminous paved access roads and parking area, a dam overlook area and the design and construction of two three bedroom dwellings.

The bids will be opened May 7, 1969. Estimated value of the project is between $100,000 and $500,000. The work must be completed within one year following the awarding of the bids.

Hopes Dim For Accord With Peru

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Prospects appear increasingly dim for settlement of the dispute between the United States and Peru over the expropriation of an American oil refinery.

President Nixon's special envoy, John N. Irwin, and his aides refuse to comment on the progress of their talks with Peruvian leaders. But a deepening sense of despair is detected among American officials here.

Although the talks so far have been cordial, U.S. Embassy officials and other observers felt the military government is showing little inclination to compromise. The ruling generals each day appear to paint themselves deeper into a corner, with no face-saving way out.

The Lima government announced Monday that it had complied with its legal obligation to pay for the expropriated property by depositing in the national bank a check, written to IC for $71 million, the value of the expropriated refinery in northern Peru as determined by independent assessors.

However, the government immediately seized the funds as payment toward the $690.5 million it claims from the company.

The Nixon administration is not expected to consider the embargoed check "effective payment" for the expropriated property.

Rescuers Find Lost Mother Too Late To Save Baby Son

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP) — Police have disclosed how a young mother became lost with her infant son in rugged, snow-covered country and stayed with him for days, living on melted snow, until he died of exposure and hunger.

Mrs. Marie Jo Hendrickson Elam, 24, told her story to police while recovering in a hospital.

The wife of an Air Force sergeant stationed in Italy, she was found by a rescue party while walking out of a dead-end canyon on improvised crutches last Friday.

Police Lt. Silvester K. Nemece said Monday night Mrs. Elam gave this account:

On March 16, lightly clad and wearing house slippers, she put the 7-month-old baby in her car and went into Guajo Canyon looking for cactus to decorate her apartment.

Her car stuck in the mud about three miles from the city and with the baby in her arms she decided to walk back to Los Alamos. But she took a wrong fork and went seven miles up a branch which came to a dead end.

Too exhausted to retrace her path, she melted snow for her and the baby to drink. They had no food. She wrapped her son in articles of her clothing,

State Holds Cash For Investments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A half million dollars in the state treasury awaits claimants, state Auditor Roger Cloud reported Tuesday.

He said the amount totals $515,662 — $288,000 in matured but unredeemed bonds and past due interest on uncashed coupons totaling $227,662. Some holdings date back 20 years, he said.

Cloud said it wouldn't do the investor any good to leave it with the state, since no additional interest will be paid after the bonds have matured.

but on the fourth day—last Wednesday — he died. She stayed with the body two days.

"She then got herself a couple of sticks to use as crutches and managed to get back down the road," Nemece said.

She had almost made her way back to her car when the search party found her. She told them where the baby's body was and the party found it still securely wrapped in its own clothing and some of its mother's.

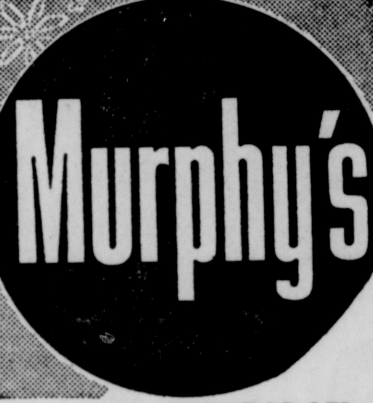

An autopsy showed the child died of exposure and dehydration.

Drug Abuse Could Become Problem In Local Area If Not Controlled

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is the first of a ten part series on drug abuse in Pickaway County. The series was written with the help of local lawmen, doctors and drug abusers.

By JOHN PURCELL
Herald Staff Writer

The local drug abuser could be the clean-cut kid down the street, the neighborly woman next door or the young junior executive where you work.

Drug abusers in Pickaway County do not meet the popular concept of being underprivileged, criminals or hippies. They are usually otherwise respectable people involved in a growing county problem.

"The problem isn't big yet, but now is the time to do something about it, before it gets out of hand," states Circleville Policeman Wesley Barton, assigned to dealing with drug abusers.

In 1968 there were 20 people arrested in Pickaway County for the illegal purchase or use of drugs. Numerous rumors of drug abuse either could not be verified or, as in the case of smoking banana skins, taking a new vitamin complex or using catnip, could not be prosecuted.

THE abused drugs differ with the age of the group using them. Teenagers tend to use marijuana, cough medicine and hashish. A slightly younger group has turned to smelling airplane glue or gasoline. Adults are prime users of amphetamines and barbiturates.

Amphetamines are stimulants commonly called pep pills. They are often prescribed by physicians for diets and to relieve depression. The barbiturates, sometimes called goofballs, produce sleep and relieve tension.

In themselves most of the drugs abused have safe medically approved uses. However there is a growing trend to use the drugs for non-medical purposes or in quantities and frequencies beyond those specified for proper medication.

Nixon Urges Holding Firm Regulations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has called on Congress for laws regulating one-bank holding companies in order to curb "the formation of a relatively small number of power centers dominating the American economy."

In urging passage of a bill introduced Monday to place the one-bank holding companies under federal control, Nixon said: "Legislation in this area is important because there has been a disturbing trend in the past year toward erosion of the traditional separation of powers between the suppliers of money—the banks—and the users of money—commerce and industry."

"This must not be permitted to happen," he said, "it would be bad for banking, bad for business and bad for borrowers and consumers."

The bill introduced on behalf of the administration is designed to curtail expansion of operations by large banks into unrelated fields as well as to end the invasion of the banking industry by giant corporations.

Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, author of a rival bill he says is tougher than the administration's, said hearings on the measures will begin next Tuesday.

Patman said the administration bill has "crippling defects," but added:

"The important thing is that we get a good solid bill that will fully regulate these holding companies on an equitable basis."

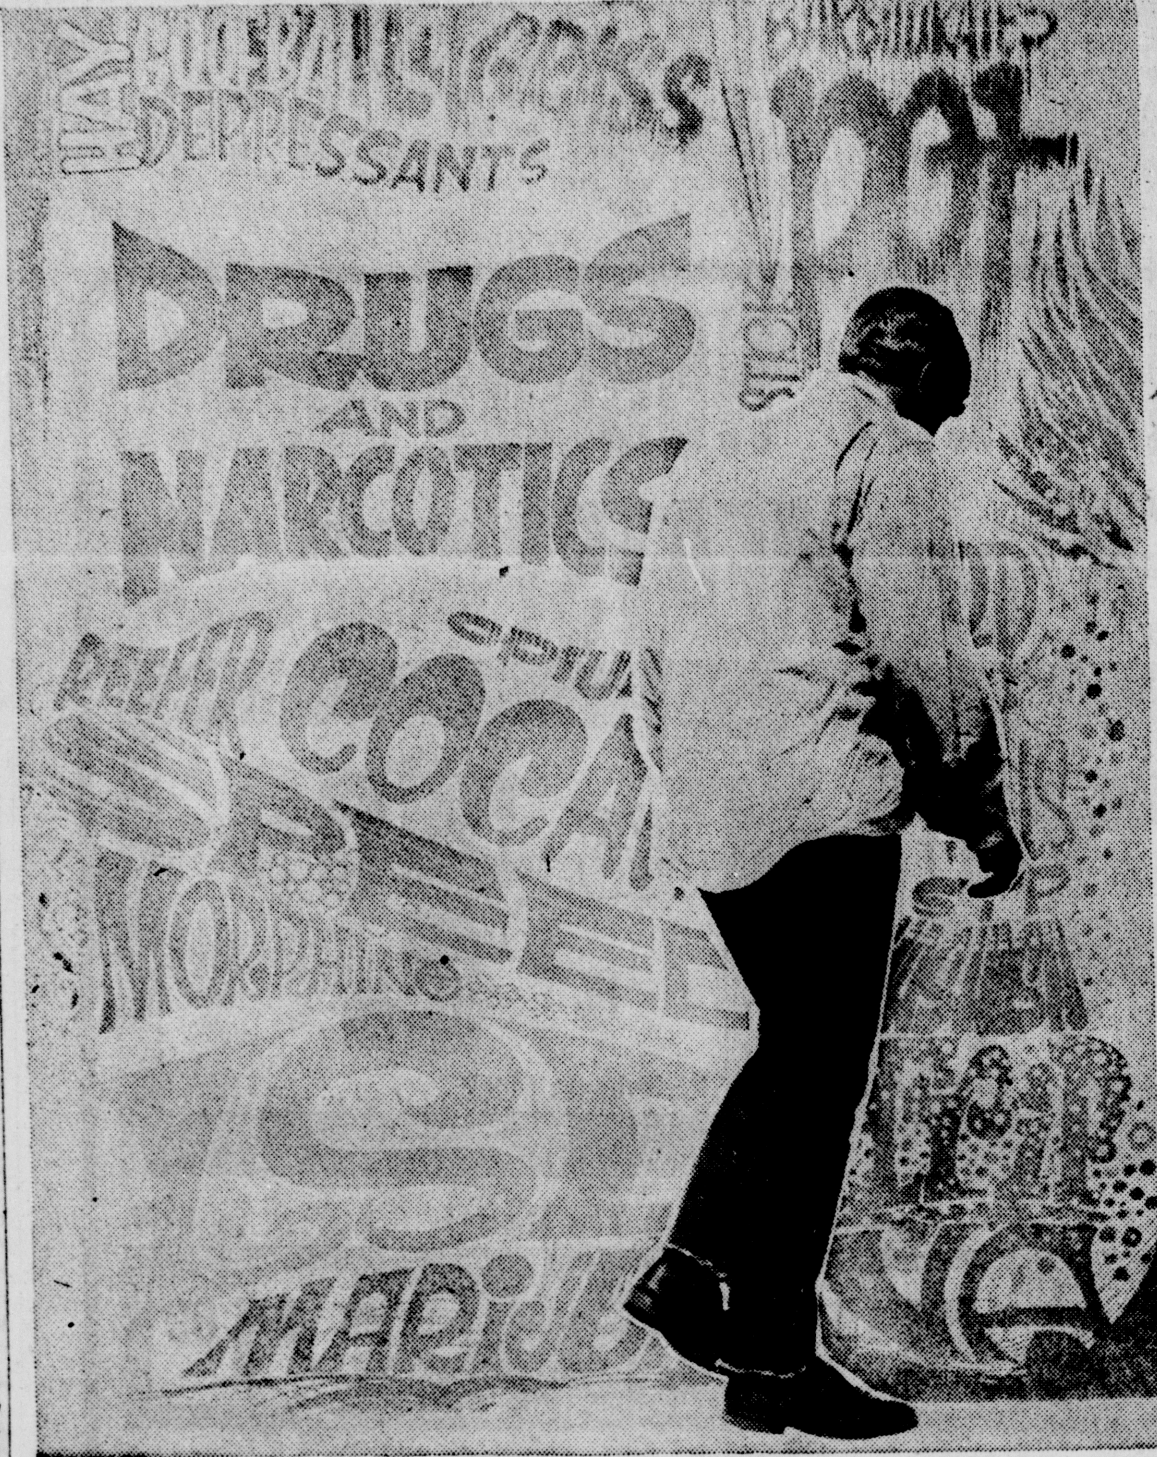

'Decency Rally' Set In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Efforts by a local newspaper columnist and a television personality have set the stage for a "Teens for Decency" rally scheduled for April 2 at the Cincinnati Gardens.

The rally is a counter measure to the alleged obscene performance March 1 at Miami of the leader of The Doors, a rock music group. A similar "decency" rally last Sunday in Miami attracted 35,000.

Columnist Frank Weikel of The Cincinnati Enquirer earlier this week issued a challenge to the city "to strike a blow for decency."

"I accepted the challenge," said Bob Braun, host of WLW-TV's "50-50 Club," which is telecast to Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

cough medicine either regularly or just as an experiment, probably comes from a good family where the members spend more money than time with each other, according to a group of local teenagers.

The price of marijuana, $5 for enough to make two cigarettes, is more than most students can afford, continued one of the students.

The students who smoke marijuana or have turned to the local trend of drinking cough medicine, are identifiable by their peers, according to a group of area high school students. They belong to their own group but generally have little more in common than the abuse of drugs.

BUT those who do use drugs are a very small minority. "Using drugs is looked down on," stated one Circleville senior. On the other hand, to experiment occasionally with drugs is approved of, or at least accepted, by a large number of students.

"Adults would flip if they knew how many kids have tried pot or alcohol illegally," stated a CHS senior. His view was readily confirmed by other students with him.

But illegal use of drugs is larger among area adults than teens, according to Policeman Barton. The groups most prone to use drugs are women whose children have grown up or gone away to school, and men and women in their mid and late 20's. The white-collar class is nationally the group most susceptible to the allurements and depressants.

"Hard" drugs, such as heroin, seldom appear in Pickaway County. The mood-controlling stimulants and depressants are most commonly abused locally.

Many of the drugs can be purchased without a doctor's prescription, but must be signed for at the pharmacy. These are called exempt drugs. There is a legally set limit as to the amount of these drugs that can be purchased by a person within a given period of time.

Atlanta Manages To Save Coaching Staff

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
For a short time this week, General Manager Paul Richards of Atlanta might have been considering a comeback as a player after he had traded the Braves into an acute catcher shortage with the season opener only two weeks away.

Richards looked like the only man in the Braves' spring training camp with major league experience behind the plate—in the 1940s—following the departure of Joe Torre and the rumored retirement of Bob Tillman.

But Richards found himself out of the competition today and back in the front office when Tillman decided to return and Richards acquired journeyman receiver Dave Adlesh from the St. Louis Cardinals for utility infielder Bob Johnson.

Until, then, the only catchers on duty in the Braves camp were Walt Hriniaak and Bob Didier, both without major league experience, and Hriniaak out with an injury.

Tillman, who had been excused from spring training for 13 days for personal reasons, now looks like the starting catcher for Atlanta, despite a mediocre career.

While no other team found itself caught that short, several were mulling over the loss of key players to injury.

Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh's four-time National League batting champion, was the most important, leaving the Pirates in a worried state after he flew to his Puerto Rico home Tuesday for treatment of an ailing left shoulder that bothered him much of last season.

Clemente injured the shoulder about two weeks ago diving for a fly ball, and has not seen action since.

Woody Hayes Looks Over Talent

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Another exciting basketball season is over and baseball is just around the corner. But here at Ohio State, the talk is football.

Coach Woody Hayes greets his national champion Buckeyes and a dozen outstanding freshmen candidates Monday when Ohio opens five weeks of spring drills.

The Bucks are allowed four practice sessions a week leading to and climaxed by the spring game windup on May 3.

Hayes has the unenviable task of improving on the performance of his 1968 squad which racked up a perfect 9-0 season, an impressive Rose Bowl Triumph over Southern California and a national championship.

But there is such an abundance of talent here that the Buckeyes figure to be overwhelming favorites to capture the Big Ten championship and add to their 14-game winning streak, the longest in the nation.

Only three offensive regulars—tackles Dave Foley and Rufus Hayes and center John Muhlback—and a pair of defensive stalwarts—middle guard Vic Stottlemeyer and linebacker Mark Stier, graduate.

Returning are quarterback Rex Kern, the super sophomore from Lancaster, and a host of other sophs who blossomed into full-fledged stars last season.

Kern, recovering from surgery for a chronic shoulder ailment, will not participate in spring drills. Backup Ron Maciejowski will be at the throttle but Hayes and his aides want to take a good look at Don Lamka.

Bill Rigney Looks Toward Better Year With Angels

By BOB MYERS
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Manager Bill Rigney of the California Angels may not be as openly optimistic as his general manager. But things are looking up for the Angels, which is about the only direction to look after the team's eighth place finish last year, just a tick or two out of the American League basement.

Dick Walsh, new front-office boss, has visions of winning the Western Division title and regards the Minnesota Twins as the team to beat.

Rigney, in his 14th year as a major league pilot and ninth with the Angels says he has four positions set for 1969, plus what he believes will be effective pitching.

The fight for the so-called open jobs is interesting rather than worrisome.

The established players lead off with an excellent keystone combination of Jim Fregosi at shortstop and Bobby Knoop at second.

Aurelio Rodriguez retains his hold at third base and Rick Reichardt is the man in left field.

Vic Davalillo appears to have an edge for right field but Bill Voss, acquired in a trade with the Chicago White Sox for Sammy Ellis last January, and Jarvis Tatum, who spent most of last year at El Paso, Tex., are making a run for it.

In the same fashion, Jay Johnstone might well be the regular center-fielder. Rigney also has other outfielders, such as Roger Repoz, Bubba Morton and Chuck Hinton, to juggle around.

AAU Basketball Tourney Proves Big Disappointment

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MACON, Ga. (AP) — The National AAU Basketball Tournament, moved out of Denver, Colo., because of declining attendance, got off to a disappointing debut in Dixie.

Macon fans were disappointed in the AAU, and the AAU was disappointed with Tuesday night's opening crowd of about 1,500.

The disappointment was caused by the absence of the Kitchen Fresh Clippers of Los Angeles, which had indicated it would be on hand with UCLA's Lew Alcindor.

Not only did Alcindor not show up—which was really not surprising because there had never been a flat commitment that he would be here—but neither did the Clippers.

And so when Coach Hal Fischer met with his defending champion Armed Forces All-Stars during the afternoon all he had to say was, "We no longer have an opponent."

The All-Stars moved into Thursday's quarter-finals by default, and will meet the Cocoa Beach, Fla., Headhunters. Cocoa Beach advanced with a 77-55 triumph over Searcy, Ark., in the only Tuesday night game.

The All-Stars played an exhibition game against a make-up team which quickly became the crowd favorite although it was trounced 104-46.

The other 12 teams in the tournament continue first-round play today with six games set for the afternoon and evening.

BOSOX SOCKERS—The big power in the American League is generated by these two Boston Red Sox sockers, Carl Yastrzemski (left) and Ken Harrelson. Yastrzemski won the 1968 batting title with a .301 mark and Harrelson knocked in 109 runs and had 35 homers. They're readying at Winter Haven.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Cleveland Indians catcher Duke Sims will be out of action for three to five weeks with a finger injury, which means he will not be available when the season opens April 8.

Sims was hit by a foul tip in the first inning of Tuesday's Cactus League game against the Seattle Pilots and suffered a dislocated right ring finger.

On the good side, Tony Horton continued to look great. He slammed a tie-breaking homer in the ninth inning and boosted his batting average to .354.

Other sophs who blossomed into full-fledged stars last season.

Kern, recovering from surgery for a chronic shoulder ailment, will not participate in spring drills.

G. C. Murphy Enters Fifth Consecutive Year At '500'

G. C. Murphy Company is entering its fifth consecutive year as sponsor of Indianapolis "500" race cars.

A veteran of the Sprint and Championship Divisions of USAC, McCluskey entered the Stock Car Division competition in 1968, finishing second in the standings, about 400 points behind winner A. J. Foyt Jr.

During the 1969 Championship Trail season, the "G. C. Murphy Special" banner will be carried on three cars owned by A. J. Foyt Jr., of Houston, Texas and driven by Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Arizona.

Foyt, who is considered by many to be the greatest driver of all time, has also been a race car owner for the last several years. In 1967 he drove a "Coyote" of his own design "500" Mile Race. He has won the "500" three times, has won the USAC Championship Division point title five times and, in 1968, was the winner of the USAC Stock Car Division title. His cars are built in the A. J. Foyt Jr. Enterprises shop in Houston, Texas.

Roger McCluskey is a United States Auto Club veteran who has qualified race cars for seven of the last eight Memorial Day "500" Classics, missing only in 1964 when he was out of action with a broken arm suffered in a sprint car accident at Reading. He qualified seventh fastest at 166.976 in 1968 and was running a strong third in the early going when forced to retire with a broken rear-end oil cooler. The year 1969 will mark his fourth consecutive year as driver of the G. C. Murphy Special.

The New York Yankees led the American League in road attendance in 1968, playing before 1,354,276 fans.

Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles was the only American Leaguer to play in all of his team's games last season. He played 162.

Atlanta Manages To Save Coaching Staff

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
For a short time this week, General Manager Paul Richards of Atlanta might have been considering a comeback as a player after he had traded the Braves into an acute catcher shortage with the season opener only two weeks away.

Richards looked like the only man in the Braves' spring training camp with major league experience behind the plate—in the 1940s—following the departure of Joe Torre and the rumored retirement of Bob Tillman.

But Richards found himself out of the competition today and back in the front office when Tillman decided to return and Richards acquired journeyman receiver Dave Adlesh from the St. Louis Cardinals for utility infielder Bob Johnson.

Until, then, the only catchers on duty in the Braves camp were Walt Hriniak and Bob Didier, both without major league experience, and Hriniak out with an injury.

Tillman, who had been excused from spring training for 13 days for personal reasons, now looks like the starting catcher for Atlanta, despite a mediocre career.

While no other team found itself caught that short, several were mulling over the loss of key players to injury.

Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh's four-time National League batting champion, was the most important, leaving the Pirates in a worried state after he flew to his Puerto Rico home Tuesday for treatment of an ailing left shoulder that bothered him much of last season.

Clemente injured the shoulder about two weeks ago diving for a fly ball, and has not seen action since.

Woody Hayes Looks Over Talent

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Another exciting basketball season is over and baseball is just around the corner. But here at Ohio State, the talk is football.

Coach Woody Hayes greets his national champion Buckeyes and a dozen outstanding freshmen candidates Monday when Ohio opens five weeks of spring drills.

The Bucks are allowed four practice sessions a week leading to and climaxed by the spring game windup on May 3.

Hayes has the unenviable task of improving on the performance of his 1968 squad which racked up a perfect 9-0 season, an impressive Rose Bowl triumph over Southern California and a national championship.

But there is such an abundance of talent here that the Buckeyes figure to be overwhelming favorites to capture the Big Ten championship and add to their 14-game winning streak, the longest in the nation.

Only three offensive regulars—tackles Dave Foley and Rufus Hayes and center John Muhlback—and a pair of defensive stalwarts—middle guard Vic Stottlemeyer and linebacker Mark Stier, graduate.

Returning are quarterback Rex Kern, the super sophomore from Lancaster, and a host of other sophs who blossomed into full-fledged stars last season.

Kern, recovering from surgery for a chronic shoulder ailment, will not participate in spring drills. Backup Ron Maciejowski will be at the throttle but Hayes and his aides want to take a good look at Don Lamka.

Bill Rigney Looks Toward Better Year With Angels

By BOB MYERS
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Manager Bill Rigney of the California Angels may not be as openly optimistic as his general manager. But things are looking up for the Angels, which is about the only direction to look after the team's eighth place finish last year, just a tick or two out of the American League basement.

Dick Walsh, new front-office boss, has visions of winning the Western Division title and regards the Minnesota Twins as the team to beat.

Rigney, in his 14th year as a major league pilot and ninth with the Angels says he has four positions set for 1969, plus what he believes will be effective pitching.

The fight for the so-called open jobs is interesting rather than worrisome.

The established players lead off with an excellent keystone combination of Jim Fregosi at shortstop and Bobby Knoop at second.

Aurelio Rodriguez retains his hold at third base and Rick Reichardt is the man in left field.

Vic Davalillo appears to have an edge for right field but Bill Voss, acquired in a trade with the Chicago White Sox for Sammy Ellis last January, and Jarvis Tatum, who spent most of last year at El Paso, Tex., are making a run for it.

In the same fashion, Jay Johnstone might well be the regular center-fielder. Rigney also has other outfielders, such as Roger Repoz, Bubba Morton and Chuck Hinton, to juggle around.

Speaking of juggling, a talent Rigney possesses, he has weighty decisions to make involving first base and catching.

Tom Satriano is an established catcher who can also play most any position on the field, including first base.

To make the matter more complex, the Angels hope young Tom Egan can take over the catching. Also, Bob Rodgers, the original Angel catcher, is still around.

If Satriano goes to first, he'll find it quite crowded. Two real veterans, Dick Stuart and Bob Chance, are desperately trying to stay alive. Either or both may make it.

The Angels' starting pitchers at this stage include George Brunet, Jim McGlothlin, Tom Southpaw Jerry Koosman of the New York Mets hurled seven shutouts and six one-run games last season.

Juan Marichal completed 30 of his 38 starts for the San Francisco Giants last season. He won 26 games and had a 2.43 earned run average.

AAU Basketball Tourney Proves Big Disappointment

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MACON, Ga. (AP) — The National AAU Basketball Tournament, moved out of Denver, Colo., because of declining attendance, got off to a disappointing debut in Dixie.

Macon fans were disappointed in the AAU, and the AAU was disappointed with Tuesday night's opening crowd of about 1,500.

The disappointment was caused by the absence of the Kitchen Fresh Clippers of Los Angeles, which had indicated it would be on hand with UCLA's Lew Alcindor.

Not only did Alcindor not show up—which was really not surprising because there had never been a flat commitment that he would be here—but neither did the Clippers.

And so when Coach Hal Fischel met with his defending champion Armed Forces All-Stars during the afternoon all he had to say was, "We no longer have an opponent."

The All-Stars moved into Thursday's quarter-finals by default, and will meet the Cocoa Beach, Fla., Headhunters. Cocoa Beach advanced with a 77-55 triumph over Searcy, Ark., in the only Tuesday night game.

The All-Stars played an exhibition game against a make-up team which quickly became the crowd favorite although it was trounced 104-46.

The other 12 teams in the tournament continue first-round play today with six games set for the afternoon and evening.

Cleveland Loses Catcher Sims

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Cleveland Indians catcher Duke Sims will be out of action for three to five weeks with a finger injury, which means he will not be available when the season opens April 8.

Sims was hit by a foul tip in the first inning of Tuesday's Cactus League game against the Seattle Pilots and suffered a dislocated right ring finger.

On the good side, Tony Horton continued to look great. He slammed a tie-breaking homer in the ninth inning and boosted his batting average to .354.

Celtics Seek Big Comeback NBA Playoffs Open Tonight;

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The National Basketball Association playoffs open tonight and for perhaps the first time the spotlight shines on a fourth place team, the Boston Celtics. Can they pull it off one more time?

The Celtics will be trying to salvage their most miserable season since 1949-50 when they began the Eastern Division semifinal best-of-7 series at Philadelphia. San Francisco plays at Los Angeles in the Western Division semifinal opener.

The New York Knicks invade Baltimore and San Diego opposes host Atlanta Thursday night in the other semifinals.

The Celtics, who have won nine NBA titles in the last 10 years, finished a dismal fourth this season, their lowest placing since they finished last in 1949-50. They hadn't been below second since a third place finish in 1954-55.

"We have to redeem ourselves," says John Havlicek of Boston.

"I'm looking forward to the playoffs as a new season," adds Sam Jones, who is retiring after the playoffs.

With Jones leaving and age creeping up on player-coach Bill Russell, Satch Sanders and Bailey Howell, this might be Boston's last shot at an NBA championship in the near future.

The Celtics did have a 5-2 edge over the second-place 76ers during the regular season, but it was an evenly played series with two of the games going into overtime.

Los Angeles, with superstars Wilt Chamberlain, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, are favored to oust the third-place Warriors and then go on to win its division final and finally sweep the title.

"We have the best basketball team we've ever had in Los Angeles," said West after the Lakers won their division by seven games over Atlanta.

However, the Warriors are not about to concede. When they are healthy — and they appear to be for the playoffs — they can go against anyone, and they have Nate Thurmond to help offset Chamberlain.

Los Angeles won their season series, 4-3.

Small Injuries Plague Players For Airlines

MIAMI (AP) — Lee Trevino has a sore thumb, Arnold Palmer has an aching back, Jack Nicklaus has an attack of tee wildness and that's the casualty report for the $200,000 National Airlines Open Golf Tournament, starting Thursday.

Trevino, the volatile U.S. Open champion, became the newest on the hospital list when he jammed his left thumb into a door on his arrival here Tuesday, forcing him out of the pro-am tournament today.

He's still not sure he will be able to tee it up Thursday and go on to play in the Masters two weeks hence.

A doctor put a cast around the thumb and said: "Nothing's broken, but when we take the cast off Thursday morning we won't know whether he can play or not. It just depends on how he feels. He may be out 36 hours or two weeks."

It would be a big disappointment for Trevino. "I felt I was really getting ready for the Masters," he said.

Palmer, who gets injections twice a day for his ailing hip, said, "I don't know how it will be — it's a day-to-day proposition."

Nicklaus, who found his booming drives soaring off course in the Jacksonville Open last week, complained, "I don't know what's happening — I just seem to come up dry."

Palmer, Nicklaus and Trevino are three of the favorites in the 156-man field which tees off Thursday in one of the year's richest events. First prize is $40,000.

Bill Casper, pro of the year and top money winner in 1968, is among the contenders as are virtually all of the top 100 money winners.

The list includes such foreigners as Gary Player, Bobby Cole and Harold Henning of South Africa, Tony Jacklin and Malcolm Gregson of England and Bruce Crampton of Australia.

SKIS ON ARTIFICIAL LEG—Tim Kovach, 11, gets an assist from instructor Sid Hopkins and two "riggers" with miniature skis as he learns to ski again at Brighton, Mich. Tim lost his right leg at the hip and his left below the knee in a boating accident in 1967. This season he mastered the beginner's slope and will try a 200-foot hill nearby next season.

EMK Plans Alaska Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is planning a three-day expedition to remote Alaskan villages next month to fulfill a pledge made by his assassinated brother Robert.

Senators, aides and reporters making the educational excursion to the frozen north will fly between villages, but at one point they will have to resort to dog sleds to reach their destination.

Kennedy's special subcommittee on Indian education will be exploring problems of the Eskimos, Indians and Aleuts, including poverty and medical needs.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who had been chairman of the subcommittee, promised the Alaskan natives last year that he would visit their villages.

Now, one year after the original excursion was planned, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., plans to carry through on the promise.

The tour is to start April 9 at Anchorage.

Besides Kennedy, subcommittee members planning to make the trip include Democrats Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota and Harold E. Hughes of Iowa and Republicans Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, William Saxton of Ohio and George Murphy of California.

Alaska's two new senators—Republican Ted Stevens and Democrat Mike Gravel — also plan to go along.

New Orleans Tops Denver In Cage Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New Orleans Bucs have won another battle in their struggle with Denver to determine which team doesn't have to open the American Basketball Association playoffs against Oakland.

The Bucs, who slid from second place last November to the cellar in the Western Division returned to second Tuesday night with a 112-101 victory over Denver in New Orleans.

The victory was the ninth in a row for New Orleans, which is trying, like Denver, to avoid a meeting with the powerful Oaks, who lead the division by 13 games despite a 127-120 loss at Dallas.

In the Eastern Division, the battle still is on for the top spot as Indiana retained a 2½ game lead with a 140-124 rout over Los Angeles.

Miami climbed within one percentage points of second place Kentucky by beating the Colonels 125-106.

Minnesota broke an eight-game losing streak and extended New York's string to 11 defeats in a row by whipping the Nets 114-104.

20-Year-Olds Can't Play Bingo

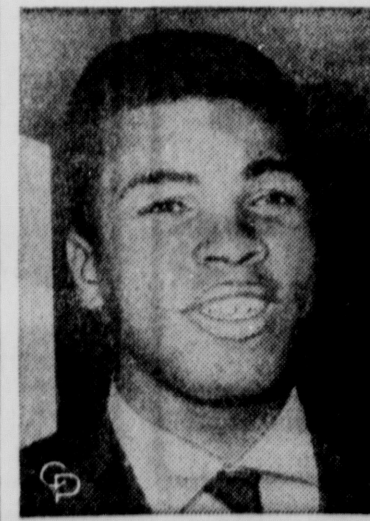

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Under a state law enacted two weeks ago, Nebraska 20-year-olds have assumed all the rights and responsibilities of adulthood except one: They can't play bingo.

Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyee's office Tuesday said the bingo statute, unlike those governing contracts, drinking or horse racing, sets the minimum age at 21.

The other laws simply exclude "minors."

James Hoffa

Cassius Clay

WIRETAP 'REPRIEVE' — The Supreme Court ruling on illegal wiretap surveillance entitles rehearings for these two famous convicts — James Hoffa, Teamsters president who went to prison on a jury tampering conviction, and deposed heavyweight champion Cassius (Muhammad Ali) Clay, under sentence for refusing induction into the Army.

Former New York Mets with the San Diego Padres are pitcher Dick Selma and outfielder Larry Stahl.

Veeck To Run Godiva Handicap

BOSTON (AP) — Promoter Bill Veeck is wasting no time making the most of the girl jockey fad currently sweeping the country.

The onetime incorrigible maverick of major league baseball, now in his first racing venture as head of Suffolk Downs, said Tuesday that the track's April 19 opening day program will feature a $10,000 race in which every horse will have a girl rider.

"We plan to have eight fillies riding eight fillies," Veeck said in announcing the Lady Godiva Handicap.

Milwaukee Eyes Low Alcindor

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks—to no one's surprise—announced Tuesday their first-round draft pick will be towering Low Alcindor of UCLA.

The expansion Bucks finished last in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division and got the crack at obtaining Alcindor's services by listening to Phoenix make the wrong call when a half dollar was tossed.

Phoenix, also an expansion club, finished last in the West. "We're convinced the young man is going to play in organized professional basketball and so we'll go after him," John Erickson, the Bucks' general manager, said Tuesday.

HEAVY GOING—As an aid to getting into shape, veteran outfielder Frank Howard of the Washington Senators tries running with five pounds of lead weights around each ankle during workouts in the Senators' Pompano Beach, Fla., camp.

Cincinnati Rips Detroit Tigers With 16-1 Win

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — "This is the year of the Cincinnati Reds," said Tony Perez, who spearheaded a 20 - hit attack Tuesday that saw the Detroit Tigers give way 16-1 to Cincinnati.

Perez accounted personally for two homers, two doubles, four runs scored and six runs batted in.

"I feel good, strong," he said. "I feel like I'm going to have a big year."

Behind Perez in the hitting department was Alex Johnson, who had three hits, scored three runs and drove in two. Starter Tony Cloninger went six innings, allowing the Tigers four of their nine hits and their lone run—Dick McAuliffe's third inning homer.

Chrysler Corp. will have its usual team of four factory-supported Dodge Chargers on hand, but an executive of the firm said the company will reevaluate its racing program after Sunday's event.

Obviously miffed at the ACCUS decision to sanction Ford new powerplant, Robert M. Rodger, Chrysler's performance manager, said: "There is not a heck of a lot we can do about this right now. These things are pretty much iron clad. We will be at Atlanta ready to race positively, but we will reevaluate our program after the race."

While he did not say the company would curtail its racing program, Rodger hinted that such action could result.

New Storm In Auto Racing Seen

ATLANTA (AP) — Time trials begin today for the Atlanta 500 stock car race, but a new storm may be brewing over the escalation of engine sizes and factory support for stock racing teams.

Ford will introduce its new 429 cubic inch semi-hemi racing engine with a team of five factory-supported cars headed by David Pearson, last year's NAS-CAR driving champ.

The engine, called the Blue Crescent because of its shaped hemispherical combustion chamber, was cleared for use by the Auto Competition Committee of the United States last week.

The ACCUS rules require that at least 500 cars and 500 engines must be produced before either unit can be raced. Ford homologated the engine to a limited production sports car called the Boss Mustang.

Chrysler Corp. will have its usual team of four factory-supported Dodge Chargers on hand, but an executive of the firm said the company will reevaluate its racing program after Sunday's event.

Obviously miffed at the ACCUS decision to sanction Ford new powerplant, Robert M. Rodger, Chrysler's performance manager, said:

"There is not a heck of a lot we can do about this right now. These things are pretty much iron clad. We will be at Atlanta ready to race positively, but we will reevaluate our program after the race."

While he did not say the company would curtail its racing program, Rodger hinted that such action could result.

BOSTON (AP) — Promoter Bill Veck is wasting no time making the most of the girl jockey fad currently sweeping the country.

The onetime incorrigible maverick of major league baseball, now in his first racing venture as head of Suffolk Downs, said Tuesday that the track's April 19 opening day program will feature a $10,000 race in which every horse will have a girl rider.

"We plan to have eight fillies riding eight fillies," Veck said in announcing the Lady Godiva Handicap.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks—to no one's surprise—announced Tuesday their first-round draft pick will be towering Lew Alcindor of UCLA.

The expansion Bucks finished last in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division and got the crack at obtaining Alcindor's services by listening to Phoenix make the wrong call when a half dollar was tossed.

Phoenix, also an expansion club, finished last in the West. "We're convinced the young man is going to play in organized professional basketball and so we'll go after him," John Erickson, the Bucks' general manager, said Tuesday.

EMK Plans Alaska Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is planning a three-day expedition to remote Alaskan villages next month to fulfill a pledge made by his assassinated brother Robert.

Senators, aides and reporters making the educational excursion to the frozen north will fly between villages, but at one point they will have to resort to dog sleds to reach their destination.

Kennedy's special subcommittee on Indian education will be exploring problems of the Eskimos, Indians and Aleuts, including poverty and medical needs.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who had been chairman of the subcommittee, promised the Alaskan natives last year that he would visit their villages.

Now, one year after the original excursion was planned, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., plans to carry through on the promise.

The tour is to start April 9 at Anchorage.

Besides Kennedy, subcommittee members planning to make the trip include Democrats Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota and Harold E. Hughes of Iowa and Republicans Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, William Saxton of Ohio and George Murphy of California.

Alaska's two new senators—Republican Ted Stevens and Democrat Mike Gravel — also plan to go along.

C Of C Promotes Interest In All Government Levels

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is one of several articles featured by the Herald this week to commemorate Chamber of Commerce Week. The Chamber's theme for this week is "Free Enterprise — Our Way of Life." The work of the Chamber in our community is based on the use of private funds and private manpower combined for the public good. Thus, the Chamber is totally an expression of private enterprise at work for the good of the community. It is truly an important contributor to free enterprise, our way of life.

The Congressional Action Committee has several points as its guidelines to better serve the Chamber of Commerce and the Circleville community.

Point number one is to get the best possible understanding and knowledge of all pending and proposed legislation at the local, state and national levels.

This will be accomplished by two means: one by contact with elected officials including city and county, state representative and state senator, and our congressman; and second by a legislative bulletin for congressional action committees issued by the National Chamber of Commerce, and a bulletin called the Ohio Legislative Report, issued by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

Point number two is to try to inform the Chamber of Commerce members of all the important information and legislation that would affect our community, and to advise or make suggestions of what necessary action the committee would recommend the chamber to take.

THE third point and probably the most important, however the most difficult to accomplish, is to inform the citizens of our community of the importance of becoming aware of the proposed legislation that affects all of us as individuals and as members of the community.

The Congressional Action Committee wants everyone to take an interest in their government by attending county commission meetings, city council meetings, school board meetings and even to take active parts in politics.

Point number four is to inform Circleville area representatives at all levels of government on the view points of the committee, the chamber and the community.

The actual goals therefore of the Congressional Action Committee would be to inform and to encourage all citizens in knowledge and understanding of governmental problems, proposals and solutions whether it be township, city or county problems and to make certain our representatives know how our community stands on the issues.

The committee consists of 10 members: Tom Elsea, chairman and Frank Barnhill, vice chairman. The committee is divided into four study groups and are: tax revision and spending control, Nelson Stevens and Roger Koch; federal controls of business, Ron Miller and Richard Shaw; labor legislation, Roy Huffer Jr. and Robert Call; and federal-state-local relations, Robert Liggett and Harold Clifton.

Wallace Man Loses Race In Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Ed Jones, a Democrat, ran far ahead of nine other candidates to win the Tennessee 8th District seat in the first congressional race since the general election last November.

Jones, a cotton farmer, had 32,705 votes to 16,336 for William Davis, running for George C. Wallace's American Independent party, and 15,644 for Leonard Dunavent, the Republican nominee. Six independents trailed far behind in the voting Tuesday.

The district is traditionally Democratic, but Wallace carried it last November when running for president against Richard M. Nixon and Huber H. Humphrey. The congressional vacancy was caused by the death of Democratic Rep. Robert A. Everett last Jan. 20.

Wallace, in a campaign rally for Davis, had called the special election "America's most important political race between now and the next national election."

Davis, a Covington insurance man, said he thought he did well considering that it was the first time he had ever run for office.

Said Jimmy Peeler, state Democratic chairman: "Wallace picked the wrong district to dabble in."

Scout Troop Stages Rescue Operation

Boy Scout Troop 205 staged a simulated search and rescue action Tuesday in Circleville.

Teams of Scouts were seen in the downtown area finding and treating simulated accident cases.

The second annual such event, the operation is part of the "Be Prepared" motto of scouting. It was conducted under the guidance of Circleville Police Department and covered a two hour period.

The operation began with the notification of all troop members by telephone for location and time of the exercise. Once the troop was formed at the Circleville Fire Department, Wes Barton of the police department gave descriptions of the simulated accidents and situations.

The individual patrols, consisting of four to seven boys were deployed to search their assigned areas.

The search and rescue operation included missing persons, lost or stolen automobiles and hit-run accidents. Each patrol was prepared with home-made first aid equipment, which they used.

Boys from Cub Pack 205 served as willing first aid victims. The entire activity was assisted by adult help of local citizens and scouters. Preparations for the operation began a month ago.

Nigerian Drive Fails, Biafra Says

UMUAHIA, Biafra (AP) — A year-long Nigerian campaign to open a 67-mile corridor through secessionist Biafra has failed with disastrous losses of men, the Biafrans said today.

In March 1968 a colonel and 15,000 to 20,000 men of the Nigerian 2nd Division set out from the former Biafran headquarters of Enugu for Onitsha on the Niger river. Six weeks later the colonel reached Onitsha with less than 1,000 men, the Biafrans claim.

The Nigerians captured the towns of Awka and Abagana along the 67-mile route, and overran Onitsha — but Biafran ambushes virtually decimated the federals. In one, at Abagana, they lost more than 100 vehicles and the Biafrans rushed foreign newsmen to the scene to display their trophies.

Since then the federal troops have maintained their hold on Awka, Abagana and Onitsha, but they have failed to keep open the highway linking them. In February the Nigerians launched a fresh attempt with heavy equipment and armored vehicles to link Awka and Onitsha. But a Biafran military spokesman said the Nigerians were driven back before the push got off the ground.

Film Of Last RFK Speech May Be Shown Sirhan Jury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A film of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's last speech acknowledging victory in the California Cemoeratic presidential primary before a joyous crowd — may be shown to the jury trying Sirhan Bishara Sirhan for murder.

Kennedy had just finished the speech in the Ambassador Hotel, shouted "On to Chicago," and was moving to another room to meet with newsmen when he was mortally wounded by Sirhan early last June 5.

The state said it will try to introduce the 15-minute film as rebuttal to defense claims that Sirhan became enraged by Kennedy's advocacy of more arms for Israel.

Dr. Bernard L. Diamond, a psychiatrist scheduled to undergo cross-examination today, testified Sirhan told him under hypnosis that he hated the New York senator because he made a campaign promise to send U.S. jets to Israel.

"It would be important for the jury to see that Kennedy did nothing that night to rekindle the flame," said Lynn D. Compton, deputy district attorney. "It was an innocuous speech."

Grant B. Cooper chief defense counsel, said he would object to having the film introduced.

"There is no suggestion by the defense that the speech decided him to shoot the senator," said Cooper. "There is nothing in the record to indicate Sirhan even heard the speech."

Diamond, a professor of medicine, law and criminology at the University of California, Monday described Sirhan as self-programmed to assassinate Kennedy.

Jewish Publisher Gets Arb Book

LONDON (AP) — A Jewish publisher says he has bought the British Commonwealth rights to King Hussein's account of the six-day Arab-Israeli war in 1967.

Publisher Peter Owen told newsmen he plans to invite the Jordanian king to launch the book in London next June, two years after the war in which Israeli forces captured a large chunk of Hussein's territory.

"As a Jew I was nervous at first about publishing the book," said Owen, "but I have read it carefully and I am convinced that Hussein's account is objective and honest."

Point number two is to try to inform the Chamber of Commerce members of all the important information and legislation that would affect our community, and to advise or make suggestions of what necessary action the committee would recommend the chamber to take.

THE third point and probably the most important, however, is to inform the citizens of our community of the importance of becoming aware of the proposed legislation that affects all of us as individuals and as members of the community.

The Congressional Action Committee wants everyone to take an interest in their government by attending county commission meetings, city council meetings, school board meetings and even to take active parts in politics.

Point number four is to inform Circleville area representatives at all levels of government on the view points of the committee, the chamber and the community.

The actual goals therefore of the Congressional Action Committee would be to inform and to encourage all citizens in knowledge and understanding of governmental problems, proposals and solutions whether it be township, city or county problems and to make

Traditional Derby River Race Planned

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Maude the Belle of Louisville can do in the fall what she hasn't been able to do very well in the spring against the Delta Queen.

The two steamboats will hold their traditional race during Kentucky Derby Week but there will be a rematch on Oct. 14. There will be no ballyhoo and nothing at stake but pride in the fall meeting between the two.

The off-season race, confirmed Monday by the Belle's operating board, appears to be the Queen's way of drumming up business for a special five-day excursion she's making between Cincinnati and St. Louis.

The race will start at McAlpine Lock, where the Belle will be arriving on one of her regular public cruises. The finish line will be five or six miles downstream.

The Derby week race — the one that counts — will be April 29 and will start at 6:30 p.m. The boats will race from the foot of Fourth Street northeast Six Mile Island and back.

The Belle has lost four of the five Derby races.

Scout Troop Stages Rescue Operation

Boy Scout Troop 205 staged a simulated search and rescue action Tuesday in Circleville.

Teams of Scouts were seen in the downtown area finding and treating simulated accident cases.

The second annual such event, the operation is part of the "Be Prepared" motto of scouting. It was conducted under the guidance of Circleville Police Department and covered a two hour period.

The operation began with the notification of all troop members by telephone for location and time of the exercise. Once the troop was formed at the Circleville Fire Department, Wes Barton of the police department gave descriptions of the simulated accidents and situations.

The individual patrols, consisting of four to seven boys were deployed to search their assigned areas.

The search and rescue operation included missing persons, lost or stolen automobiles and hit-run accidents. Each patrol was prepared with home-made first aid equipment, which they used.

Boys from Cub Pack 205 served as willing first aid victims. The entire activity was assisted by adult help of local citizens and scouters. Preparations for the operation began a month ago.

Nigerian Drive Fails, Biafra Says

UMUAHIA, Biafra (AP) — A year-long Nigerian campaign to open a 67-mile corridor through secessionist Biafra has failed with disastrous losses of men, the Biafrans said today.

In March 1968 a colonel and 15,000 to 20,000 men of the Nigerian 2nd Division set out from the former Biafran headquarters of Enugu for Onitsha on the Niger river. Six weeks later the colonel reached Onitsha with less than 1,000 men, the Biafrans claim.

The Nigerians captured the towns of Awka and Abagana along the 67-mile route, and overran Onitsha — but Biafran ambushes virtually decimated the federals. In on, at Abagana, they lost more than 100 vehicles and the Biafrans rushed foreign newsmen to the scene to display their trophies.

Since then the federal troops have maintained their hold on Awka, Abagana and Onitsha, but they have failed to keep open the highway linking them. In February the Nigerians launched a fresh attempt with heavy equipment and armored vehicles to link Awka and Onitsha. But a Biafran military spokesman said the Nigerians were driven back before the push got off the ground.

Ayub Declares Martial Law For Pakistan

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — President Mohammed Ayub Khan declared martial law in Pakistan Tuesday and handed over the administration of the strife-torn country to the army chief of staff, Gen. Yahya Khan, Radio Pakistan said.

Ayub made the announcement in what he called his last address to the nation and appealed to the people to help the armed forces in the maintenance of law and order, the broadcast said.

The radio quoted Ayub as saying that the situation in the country had turned from bad to worse and that the government was unable to control mob violence sweeping both parts of Pakistan.

California Democratic presidential primary before a joyous crowd — may be shown to the jury trying Sirhan Bishara Sirhan for murder.

Kennedy had just finished the speech in the Ambassador Hotel, shouted "On to Chicago," and was moving to another room to meet with newsmen when he was mortally wounded by Sirhan early last June 5.

The state said it will try to introduce the 15-minute film as rebuttal to defense claims that Sirhan became enraged by Kennedy's advocacy of more arms for Israel.

Dr. Bernard L. Diamond, a psychiatrist scheduled to undergo cross-examination today, testified Sirhan told him under hypnosis that he hated the New York senator because he made a campaign promise to send U.S. jets to Israel.

"It would be important for the jury to see that Kennedy did nothing that night to rekindle the flame," said Lynn D. Compton, deputy district attorney. "It was an innocuous speech."

Grant B. Cooper chief defense counsel, said he would object to having the film introduced.

"There is no suggestion by the defense that the speech decided him to shoot the senator," said Cooper. "There is nothing in the record to indicate Sirhan even heard the speech."

Diamond, a professor of medicine, law and criminology at the University of California, Monday described Sirhan as self-programmed to assassinate Kennedy.

Jewish Publisher Gets Arb Book

LONDON (AP) — A Jewish publisher says he has bought the British Commonwealth rights to King Hussein's account of the six-day Arab-Israeli war in 1967.

Publisher Peter Owen told newsmen he plans to invite the Jordanian king to launch the book in London next June, two years after the war in which Israeli forces captured a large chunk of Hussein's territory.

"As a Jew I was nervous at first about publishing the book," said Owen, "but I have read it carefully and I am convinced that Hussein's account is objective and honest."
